Tipoff by Politicians Here Helped Karpis Flee, Hoover Charges

What Became of Dr. Moran?

[International News Photo]

WAS Dr. Joseph P. Moran (arrow) drowned in Lake Erie to keep him from talking? J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men, thinks so. In Cleveland today following the capture of gangster Harry Campbell in Toledo last night, Hoover declared ringleaders of the Karpis gang had face lifting and fingerprint obliterating operations performed in Cleveland. "The doctor, whose name was Moran, probably is dead," said the chief of the G-men. In this picture Dr. Moran is aiding Dr. F. J. Chemelik in the surgery of Illinois state prison at Joliet after the rioting there in 1931.

Alvin Karpis, Harry Campbell, and other members of the notorious Karpis gang, would have ended their crime careers in 1934, had not a tip-off from the inside upset the trap laid for their capture in Cleveland.

This was the charge made today by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-Men, after the arrest of Harry Campbell in Toledo this morning.

Hoover added to his charge that the tip-off was accomplished by "local politicians with police connections."

Upon this charge Safety Director Ness, himself a former G-man, began an investigation.

Hoover, who flew from Toledo to Cleveland today before revealing Campbell's capture, refused to go into details about the "tipoff," which he said delayed capture of these two public enemies two years. He said, however, that department of justice agents have been investigating the alleged leak for several months.

Safety Director Ness, unable to communicate with Hoover because of his early departure for New York, announced he would confer with Joseph P. MacFarland, local department of justice head, in an effort to get more particulars.

Promises Thorough Inquiry

"The charges made by Mr. Hoover are too serious to be overlooked," Ness declared. "If what he says is true I want to get to the bottom of it."

Hoover also stated that members of the Karpis gang had "face lifting" operations here, performed by one Dr. Joseph Moran of Chicago, who also attempted to alter their finger tips to prevent detection through fingerprints.

"I think Dr. Moran is dead—somewhere in Lake Erie right now," Hoover said. "He was killed because he knew too much."

Campbell was the last of the gang to be taken. Karpis was captured last Friday in New Orleans.

Search Here Reported

Although Hoover would not comment, it was reported that G-men for nearly six months have been investigating the operations of the Karpis gang in Cleveland, and that their search grew out of the discovery, in the West Side house from which the gang fled, of evidence that a local detective agency had been in touch with the gang.

Campbell is being flown to St. Paul under heavy guard, to answer charges of aiding in the $200,000 kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, a banker, in 1934. Karpis already is in St. Paul, facing that charge. Both men are also charged with the Garrettsville, O., $46,000 mail robbery of last November.

Arrest of Campbell, his wife, and Sam Coker, a lesser member of the Karpis gang, was reported today.

Arrest of Campbell, his wife, and Sam Coker, a lesser member of the gang, was without incident. The desperado was armed, but made little or no resistance.

Karpis also surrendered meekly, although he had boasted, "I'll never be taken alive."

"They're all yellow rats," said Hoover.

Married Under Alias

Campbell was married under the name of Bob Miller. His wife had no knowledge of his criminal career, Hoover believes, and probably will be released eventually. Coker will be held for authorities in Oklahoma as a parole violator, with a 30-year sentence still hanging over his head for a bank robbery.

John Brock, another member of the Karpis gang, is in county jail here awaiting trial on the mail train robbery charge. Fred Hunter, who was arrested with Karpis in New Orleans, may be brought back here to answer the same charge.

Campbell's arrest was the twenty-fifth in the government's war on the Karpis gang.

Dr. Moran was believed to have aided Karpis and Campbell in the Bremer kidnaping.

Karpis Can't Find Half Million Bail

ST. PAUL (AP)—Unable to provide $500,000 bail, Alvin Karpis, the nation's No. 1 bad man, was lodged in the county jail today, awaiting arraignment on kidnaping charges.

Djibouti, French Somaliland, May 7.—(P)—Unconfirmed reports today said a serious dispute had broken out between Italy and the French company controlling the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railroad over the transportation of troops and war material.

(Copyright, 1936, by the Associated Press.)

Rome, May 7.—(P)—Marshal Pietro Badoglio today took over entire charge of the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railroad as far as the border of French Somaliland, the Stefani (Italian) news agency reported.

Italian troops took charge of all traffic on the railroad, by command of their military leader.

Official sources in Paris stated today that France was not ready to give up her rights to the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railroad, claiming that the line could be brought about only by a free convention between the French company which owns the line and the Italian government.

Traffic was reported to have been restored to normal.

Total annexation of Ethiopia, the best informed sources said today.

DESPERADO HAS GUN BUT YIELDS CALMLY;
WILL BE ARRAIGNED AS BREMER ABDUCTOR

Limping Harry Campbell, lone wolf of the Barker-Karpis gang, was brought to St. Paul by airplane under the muzzles of federal guns at noon today after being trapped in Toledo by government agents at 5 A. M.

The capture of Campbell completes the roundup of leaders of the mob that kidnaped Edward G. Bremer, St.
Paul banker, and William Hamm, St. Paul brewer, for $300,000 ransom. Campbell is charged with abducting Bremer.

Arrested with Campbell was a 19-year-old girl who professed to be his wife and in a simultaneous raid on a house in a fashionable Toledo district, agents nabbed Sam Cokar, a minor figure in the gang.

The girl and Cokar are being held in Cleveland, the latter as an Oklahoma parole violator.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, led the agents in the Toledo raid. It was the second foray in six days.

BELGIUM REVEALS SPY PLOT IN FORT

Alleged Leader Arrested; Several Reported Involved.

Vervieres, Belgium, May 7.—(P)—Discovery of a spy plot in an underground fort in the district of Liege was reported by police today.

It was stated that the leader of the alleged plot had been arrested, that several workmen were involved, and that other arrests were imminent.

Police withheld further details. Since the World war, Belgium has engaged in the construction of border fortifications as a preventative against a recurrence of the German invasion of 1914.

In continuation of the famous trench steel and concrete line along German border, Belgium has constructed an intricate system of underground forts and pill boxes. Among the more massive of these fortifications are those at Liege.

A third, badly damaged, all the property of Fargo residents. Hendrickson and J. P. Hardy owned the burned buildings. The property belongs to J. H. Evers. Evers said the loss would exceed $15,000.

Detroit Lakes firemen, farmers and townspeople finally subdued the fire at 2 A. M. today.

$721,875 FOR OLD AGE PENSIONS SENT TO STATE

Washington, May 7.—The Federal government's check for $721,875 for a grant for old age assistance payments from April 1 to June 30, the final quarter of the current year, was mailed to Minnesota today by the United States post office.
Announcement of the forwarding of the check for federal aid was made by the Social Security board, which estimated that 22,000 needy persons will be aided in Minnesota during the quarter.

that it would do better to think out some plan of government cooperation with industry to increase employment than to consider now any permanent program of relief.

This advice was disclosed as the House began considering a $1,500,000,000 allowance for Hopkins Works Progress administration for the 1937 fiscal year. This amount he told the appropriations committee during hearings made public today, will not be enough unless private employment picks up.

He defended the WPA against charges of "politics" and told how he planned to use the $1,500,000,000.

As to suggestions for a permanent program, he said "it was not desirable now to draft such a plan because if you were to do it today, you would have to set up a device to take care of a very, very large number of people."
"Now I certainly do not look forward to the number of unemployed that we have now," he said. "We

GIRL SUCCUMBS TO BURNS SUFFERED 6 YEARS AGO

Binghamton, N. Y., May 7.—(P)—Ellen Milo, 12-year-old child of tragedy, died of burns received six years ago, and will be buried today in her first party dress.

The little girl suffered burns in 1930 from which she never recovered. Nearly half of her brief life was spent in hospitals.

Her mother died when she was 10 months old. Last January her father hanged himself in a jail cell.

$500,000 BAIL PROPOSED

A half-million dollars bail will be asked by George F. Sullivan, United States District attorney, when Harry Campbell, is arraigned here in the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer.

The figure to be demanded, Sullivan said, in Campbell's case is the largest amount ever sought in any court in the country. Previously, Sullivan announced he would seek $400,000 bail when Alvin Karpis is arraigned on charges of kidnaping Bremer and William Hamm Jr.

In St. Paul Saturday, J. Edgar Hoover asserted that Campbell was the "brains" behind Karpis.

Important disclosures Wednesday afternoon when agents closed all doors to the bureau of investigation's office in the St. Paul federal building, including that of the reception room, and even cleared the corridors at 3 P. M. so that listeners could not overhear anything.

This state of extreme secrecy lasted a half hour. Shortly afterward the quizzing of Karpis ended and he was transferred to the Ramsey county jail.

The plane carrying Campbell dropped out of the skies to the St. Paul airport a few minutes before noon and six minutes later the manacled prisoner was rushed into the federal building without his game leg hardly having touched the ground.

QUITS PLANE IN HANGAR.

His reception was arranged by seven government agents armed with sub-machine guns and magazine rifles. The formalities were brief. The big Douglas plane circled the field once, landed in mid-field and taxied into the open hangar of the 109th Air squadron, where his pal, Karpis, arrived Saturday morning.

Unlike Karpis, whose summery clothes were disheveled, Campbell was clad in dapper fashion, wearing a light gray suit and light gray hat. He even had an agent take

BREMER AND HAMM CONGRATULATE FEDS

Both St. Paul Major Kidnaping Victims Pay Tribute to Achievements.

Tribute to the Federal government for its cleanup of the Barker-Karpis kidnap mob was paid today by the victims of St. Paul two major abductions following the capture of Harry Campbell, last of the mobsters.

Both men were relieved to hear of the arrest.

Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker and victim of a $200,000 abduction at the hands of the gang, said:

"I congratulate Mr. Bremer, the agents of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice. Their work activities in rounding up these men have proved that the country today is less safe for kidnapers than ever before.

"The thoroughness of their work is well shown by the fact that they still are keeping an eye on me.

They have said that they are going to continue doing so for some time. It is a great relief to know the principals in this crime have been caught."

William Hamm Jr., St. Paul brewer and financier, who was kidnapped by the same mob and held for $100,000 ransom, said:

"I want to congratulate the Mr. Hamm, agents of the Bureau of Investigation for their capture of Campbell and for their accomplishment in wiping out the entire Barker-Karpis gang. They have done splendid work and deserve the highest compliments for it."

Karpis' Chief Aid Brought To St. Paul

1,500 Oil Stations Are Hit By Strike

Fuel Hoses Reported Cut And Pickets Said To Have Threatened Tank Emptying.

Approximately 1,500 filling station workers refused to report for work in the Twin Cities this morning in a strike protest against leases now in effect between gasoline companies and station owners.

Several scattered stations in St. Paul opened as usual this morning, but expected to close as squads of pickets, named at a workers' mass meeting Wednesday night swung into action.

St. Paul police squad cars were rushed to investigate several complaints this morning. One came from the Phillips Petroleum Co. station at 111 Concord ave., who told police a band of strikers had ordered him to close the station under threat of emptying his gas tank.

Other calls were from 7th and Pine sts.; Rice st. and College ave.; 6th and Robert sts., and 16th and University ave. Fuel hoses were cut at this station. Two strikers were detailed to a gas station at 16th and Robert sts. on

Taken Without Resistance In Ohio; Wanted For Bremer Kidnaping.

Helping history repeat itself, a huge TWA transport airliner taxied onto St. Paul's municipal airport at 11:52 a. m. today, bearing new cargo for the mills of justice — Harry (Limpy) Campbell, one of the expert "torpedos" of the now shattered Barker-Karpis mob, who was taken by G-men in Toledo at dawn today.

Surprised in his sleep, Campbell, like his notorious chief-tain, Alvin Karpis, surrendered without a shot being fired when a corps of G-men, headed by grim-jawed J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the justice agents, broke through the door. Taken with Campbell was his 20-year-old bride.

A few blocks away, Sam Coker, said to be a minor figure in the Barker-Karpis ring, also was taken into custody. Coker and Campbell's slight, pretty brunet bride were left in Cleveland when the machine-gunner and reputed "real head" of the Barker-Karpis mobsters, was bundled into the airliner and whisked off to St. Paul to join again his one-time chief-tain, Karpis.

END OF TRAIL

"Limpy" Campbell Is Brought Home

It's the end of the trail for HARRY CAMPBELL, machine-gunner of the Barker-Karpis mob, who, arrested in Toledo at dawn today, was taken into the federal courts building this afternoon. Two federal agents, his right. The rapid stride of G-men soon got the best of Campbell a leg injury, Campbell complained they were "walking too damn fast."

Work Relief Bill Starts Hot Battle

G. O. P. Opposes Giving $1,425,000,000 To Hopkins; Set-up Held Inefficient.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(UP)—A storm of partisan debate over the new deal's relief policies broke out in the house today as the last major bill of the session, carrying $1,425,000,000 for work-relief was brought up for action.

Republican attack centered on alleged inefficiency of the WPA setup and received some support from Democratic insurgents who have forced a party caucus tonight in an effort to earmark over the President's protests $700,000,000 for the public works administration.

House leaders, after a slight flurry pushed through the house an agreement to limit debate on the bill to seven hours. Under the plan the final roll call vote on passage, however, will be delayed until Monday.

Crowd Gathered For Campbell Sees Mishap

Shortly before the plane bringing Harry Campbell arrived in St. Paul, several hundred persons at the airport to watch for the criminal witnessed an airplane accident.

Clyde Burwell, Minneapolis, department of commerce aviation inspector, landed in front of the municipal hangar. His plane rolled normally a short distance, then suddenly swung to the left, tilted till a wing hit the ground and stood on its nose.

The machine did not overturn, and Mr. Burwell climbed out, uninjured. As his machine was righted, the big transport with Campbell appeared over the field, and the crowd rushed for the national guard hangar to watch his arrival.

men picked him up and carried him to department of justice headquarters where he will undergo questioning all day.

He wore a light blue suit and felt hat. In charge of the federal agents who brought him here was E. J. Connelley, Cincinnati, chief of the justice department's kidnaping squad.

Thus did G-men within six days write the all-but-last chapter to the notorious blood-written history of one of the strongest and most desperate mobs in American criminal annals.

Only Two Unsolved.

Thus, too, in six days did G-Man Hoover and his aids accomplish one of the toughest assignments on their books.

With Campbell wanted in the $200,000 Edward G. Bremer kidnaping and Karpis in the Bremer and $100,000 William Hamm, Jr., abduction under arrest, G-men had only two major kidnapings still unsolved on their books and had two jobs still confronting them: the capture of William Mahan in the George Weyerhaeuser abduction and Thomas H. Robinson in the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, Louisville, Ky., socialite.

Reckless Career Closed.

Capture of Campbell, named in indictments for the actual kidnaping of Banker Bremer and conspiracy in the abduction brought to a close the reckless career of one of the expert "torpedoes" and "hard guys" of the old Barker-Karpis mob—and placed in the custody of federal men two gangsters on whose head a price of $7,500 was placed but a short time ago.

Rain, Cooler Will Follow Torrid Spell

Local showers and cooler weather were to come to St. Paul today, following the hottest day of the year Wednesday when the mercury touched 87 at 2:30 p. m.

While St. Paul sweltered, the rest of the northwest and middle west was in the middle of storms that ranged from a blizzard in Montana that tied up traffic and brought two feet of snow, to high wind and rain storms in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Two persons were injured.

Highways and bridges were damaged generally throughout Stearns county. Two bridges were washed out. Wind and rain roared through North Dakota. At Sawyer, Gustav Kruger, a farmer, suffered a broken arm when a portion of his windmill collapsed and fell on him. Two high tension power lines were blown down at Benedict, N. D. At Towner an airplane was torn from its moorings and destroyed.

William Schramm, farmer living near Ellsworth, Wis., was struck by lightning, lay stunned in a field for several hours.

In Montana, near Livingston, more than 100 cars were stalled by a snowstorm that continued through the night. Hail and severe rain hit other areas of the state.

While the northwest had its freak weather, a dust storm struck the vicinities of Omaha and Lincoln, Neb.

3 Killed When Rail Locomotive Explodes

BATAVIA, N. Y., May 7.—(UP)— Three men were killed today when a Delaware, Lackawanna & Western days, it was understood.

Gen. Rodolfo Graziani, command-is expected to be named military governor of the whole country within a few days.

Achille Starage, secretary general of the Fascist party, who led the armed forces.

Reports that negotiation of a loan already was under way were denied.
These reports were that Alberto

Speeders Face License Loss, Jail Sentence

The law's big guns were fired today by Judge Clayton Parks in municipal court in a new war on speeding automobile drivers.

Drivers traveling 50 miles an hour or more on the city's arterial highways will face suspension of their license and a jail term.

Hereafter, according to Judge Parks' ruling, no driver will be permitted to forfeit bail and thus escape facing charges.

To Order License Lifted.

The order came during the sentencing of four charged with traffic violations.

Richard J. Palmer, 2115 Franklin ave. se., Minneapolis, pleaded guilty to driving 62 miles an hour on University ave. in the Midway district Wednesday. He was sentenced to $25 fine or 10 days. He paid the fine and Judge Parks said he would recommend suspension of Mr. Palmer's driver's license.

Dexter Kruger, New Brighton, Minn., admitted driving at 45 miles an hour on Rice st. He was sentenced to $10 or 10 days, paid the fine and was ordered not to drive a car for 60 days.

Admit Passing Signs.

William G. Vent, 1974 Goodrich ave., pleaded guilty to driving through an arterial stop sign. He was fined $3.

N. A. Battle, 622 N. 6th ave., Minneapolis, pleaded guilty to passing stop signs at Marshall ave. and River drive. He made the excuse of a weak heart. Judge Parks sentenced him to $10 or 10 days and recommended a physical examination to determine whether Mr.
Battle was fit to hold a driver's license.

Karpis Aid Is Captured By Hoover

Karpis—like a yellow rat," said Mr. Hoover, commenting on the capture.

His arrest, besides bringing to an end his desperate criminal career, polished off the Barker-Karpis gang completely, with only one man still definitely unaccounted for. He is Dr. Joseph Moran, face-lifter, fling-tip-mutilator, surgeon extraordinary for the mob. But rumor—and the belief of Mr. Hoover himself—is that the body of Moran lies water-soaked and decaying at the bottom of Lake Erie, tossed there because he had "a fondness for drink and loose talk."

No Reward.

The $2,500 reward for Campbell's capture will not be paid, Mr. Hoover said, because "full credit for the capture goes to department of justice men." He charged postal inspectors with lack of co-operation but refused to elaborate his charge, and added: "I want it fully understood that G-men receive full credit for rounding up the entire Barker-Karpis mob. The postal inspectors had nothing to do with it, and there was a noticeable lack of co-operation on their part."

Did Karpis, captured Friday in New Orleans, brought here last Saturday by TWA airliner, crack?

Was it Karpis, the G-men the lead the Campbell's arrest?

was an indication that Karpis had "sung."

A G-man, among those waiting at the airport for the liner today was asked, "Will Karpis get the $2,500 reward?"

"Well, he's entitled to it, isn't he," the G-man said.

Other sources, however, refused to substantiate the belief that five days of questioning would have "cracked" Karpis to the extent that he would tip off the pal credited by Mr. Hoover himself with being "the real master-mind of the Barker-Karpis crowd."

Not Named In Hamm Case.

Campbell has been sought for more than two years and the search has been particularly intensive since he and Karpis shot their way out of a police trap in Atlantic City in January, 1935.

Announcement of Campbell's capture came from Mr. Hoover himself who led the raid, loaded Campbell onto a plane bound for St. Paul.

It was shortly after the shooting of Kate (Ma) Barker and Fred, her son, that Karpis and Campbell fled from the Florida home where the two were mowed down by federal agents.

With their two women, who were left behind when the two gunmen, surprised by a federal police raid, fled after an exchange of shots. They were trailed half-way across the continent; then the trail chilled until a week ago when federal men learned the whereabouts of Karpis, descended on him as he was leaving a New Orleans apartment.

Moll Alone Injured.

Although more than 200 shots were fired in the Atlantic City break of Karpis and Campbell, Dolores Delaney, Karpis' moll, was the only one injured. She suffered a leg wound. Karpis and Campbell had fled from the Florida hideout of Ma and Fred organized a raiding party late the night of Jan. 20, 1935.

Find Them Ready.

The police expected to find Campbell and Karpis asleep. Instead, when they broke into the room, they found Karpis seated in a rocker, a machine gun in his lap. Campbell sat in bed, a machine-gun at his side. The two opened fire as police stepped in. Once in the corridor, thinking to arouse the women in an adjoining room, Karpis fired a blast through the door. One shub hit Miss Delaney.

Unable to wait for the two women, Karpis and Campbell sprayed the corridor with machine-gun fire, drove the detectives down the three flights of stairs, escaped through a rear door. Karpis stole a car out of the garage while Campbell held the officers back. In that car they escaped, Karpis clad only in trousers; Campbell only in his underclothing and a raincoat. Neither had shoes, wearing only house slippers.

A few days after their escape Miss Delaney gave birth to Karpis' son. Subsequently the two women went to the reformatory at Milan, Mich., for harboring fugitives.

Found Asleep.

Mr. Hoover said that he and his agents found Campbell asleep in a second floor apartment in Toledo; that the gunman offered only slight resistance.

The girl was taken to Cleveland but was not placed under arrest.

The G-men said that in Campbell's possession was $2,700 in cash, a revolver, six clips of cartridges.

Mr. Hoover said his information was that Campbell had been living in Toledo five months, almost constantly since the Garrettsville, O., mail robbery last November. He had been in and out of Toledo 18 months, Mr. Hoover said.

murder, burglaries, safe-cracking and other crimes," Hoover said.

Campbell and Karpis, together with Fred Hunter and two others, their clan are named in warrants issued by the federal district court here as perpetrators of the $48,000 mail train robbery in Garrettsville, O., last November. A federal grand jury was called here today to consider indictments against the men in connection with this robbery.

Wanted In Oklahoma.

Campbell also is wanted in Rogers County, Okla., for one of that state's foremost unsolved crimes—the murder of J. Earl Smith, Tulsa law in 1932.

Smith, who on several occasions represented members of the Barker-Karpis gang in criminal court, was found beaten and shot to death in Tulsa's exclusive Indian Hill country club, across the county from Rogers county.

Campbell, his companion, Fred Barker, since killed in a G-man bush in Florida, and other members of the gang disappeared from their usual Tulsa haunts.

Now Doing Time.

Jimmie Lawson and Eddie Snyder, two of the gang, since have been captured and are in prison.

It was Lawson who pinned Smith killing on Campbell.

Lawson confessed to Karpis authorities in March that he accompanied Campbell and Snyder on the death mission. He said Snyder beat Smith with a pistol butt. Campbell shot him, because Campbell owed the lawyer some money for defending him in a lawsuit.

It is estimated 3,000 employees will be on strike by noon today. William McCormiskey, Minneapolis, president of Local 19802, Petroleum Workers' union, has listed 521 gas stations in St. Paul and 758 in Minneapolis.

Some Stay Open.

Many of the stations remained closed this morning while others are expected to remain open in defiance of the union decree.

Union officials have ordered the strikers to attempt to halt all trucks hauling gasoline and oil. Pumps in attendant garages will be picketed, the union headquarters said.

The strike was called, union officials said, because of the practice of oil companies in leasing stations to private operators. This, the union contends, results in reduced employment. The union demands the practice be abolished.

Mr. Hoover flew to Toledo Wednesday night from Washington. Gathering his men about him at dawn today, they descended on the Campbell apartment and took this pair with such a small display that residents in the building were unaware, for the most part, that the raid was in progress.

Mr. Hoover said Karpis and Campbell were the two who stood guard over Mr. Bremer when he was kidnaped Jan. 17, 1934.

Coker, on parole from the Oklahoma prison at McAlester where he was serving a 30-year term for bank robbery. He is being held in Cleveland, will be returned to the prison later.

Campbell, Mr. Hoover said, was married in May, 1935, at Bowling Green, O. The chief G-man did not disclose the name of Campbell's wife but said he was under the impression she did not know the true identity of her mate.

The building in which Campbell was taken was a two-story apartment. Four apartments were on the second floor. The lower floor houses a delicatessen. Campbell lived in one of the front second-floor apartments.

Under Many Aliases.

The 36-year-old gunman operated under a score of aliases, among them T. C. Blackburn, George L. Martin, George Nelson, John Walcott, George Walcott, George Wingfield, George Swanson, George F. Summers and others.

Campbell was born at McClintoonville, Pa., and his first appearance in the crime records came Dec. 25, 1920, when he was arrested at Tulsa, Okla., for investigation, fined $18 and costs.

Jan. 20, 1921, he was sent to the Oklahoma state penitentiary for safe keeping, in connection with a bank robbery, from Lincoln county, Oklahoma. He was discharged from the prison June 11 that year, on a court order.

The next entry in the department of justice record of the captured man is April 29, 1932, when he was arrested by the sheriff at Tulsa on a charge of burglary. He was released on bond, and that case still is pending.

Tipped Off.

Following arrest of Campbell, Mr. Hoover disclosed that most of the gang hid out in Cleveland in the summer of 1934 after the Bremer kidnaping, a story substantiated in trials here of Harry Sawyer, finger-man; Cassius McDonald, money-changer, William (Phoenix Donald) Weaver and others.

Hoover declared that G-men could have taken Barker-Karpis mobsters then save for the fact that they "were tipped off by crooked Cleveland politicians with police connections."

Hoover declared that Karpis and Campbell plotted the kidnaping of Mr. Bremer Jan. 17, 1934. Bremer was released the following Feb. 7, after payment of $200,000 ransom.

"Campbell and Karpis engineered this kidnaping," Mr. Hoover said, "and we have evidence to show that they are the two men described by Mr. Bremer as those who stood beside him and struck him several times while he was being held in the gang's hideout."

The 36-year-old mobster, Mr. Hoover said, had a "long career of

Car Kidnaped Banker Slain Or Wounded

Fear that Edward G. Bremer, 36, kidnaped St. Paul banker and scion of a wealthy family, may have been slain or is seriously injured, was disclosed today when examination of his car from which he was dragged by his abductors, revealed dried blood stains.

Three large blots of blood, indicating that Mr. Bremer may have been struck twice by his abductors, were found, it was learned.

One was on the back, near the driver's seat; another streak of blood was found near the back of the seat; the third was on the floor, indicating that after he had been struck, he toppled over, his head resting on the other side of the seat.

This was learned by The Daily News today as authorities sought the hideout where Mr. Bremer, probably injured, is being held for $200,000 ransom.

Chief of Police Thomas E. Dahill declined to comment on the startling development in the case, but did not challenge the veracity of the information.

The gruesome index to the character of the kid-turned safe. More than a score of detectives and plain clothesmen slept at the public safety building all night, ready for an immediate call to duty. Chief Dahill stayed there until 3 a. m., when he went home for a brief sleep.

Other overnight developments in the case included the arrival here by plane of Frank J. Blake, ace department of justice operative, from Texas, to aid in the hunt for the kidnapers. Blake led the roundup of the kidnapers of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire.

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the department's bureau of investigation, announced that he would use every force of his division to aid in the capture of the kidnapers.

Ready To Pay.

The notice to the kidnapers that the Bremer family was ready to pay the $200,000 ransom demanded was published in Thursday's Minneapolis Tribune personals column.

"We are ready. Alice," the notice read.

Mr. Bremer, president of the Commercial State bank, was kidnaped Wednesday morning, as he was on his way from his home at 92 N. Mississippi River blvd. to the bank. He had taken his daughter Betty, 8, to the Summit school, and left her there. That was the last seen of him. About 11 a. m. Walter W. Magee, contractor and friend of Mr. Bremer received a telephone call informing him his friend had been kidnaped, and that a note containing instructions would be found at the rear of his office at 118 W. Central ave. Exact contents of that note have not been revealed, but the ransom demand was learned to have been $200,000.

Mr. Bremer is the son of Adolph Bremer, part owner of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Co., and a nephew of Otto Bremer, prominent Democratic politician, friend of President Roosevelt and Gov. Olson, and Minnesota member of the House of Representatives.

Banker Slain Or Wounded

Fear that Edward G. Bremer, 36, kidnaped St. Paul banker and scion of a wealthy family, may have been slain or is seriously injured, was disclosed today when examination of his car from which he was dragged by his abductors, revealed dried blood stains.

Three large blots of blood, indicating that Mr. Bremer may have been struck twice by his abductors, were found, it was learned.

One was on the back, near the driver's seat; another streak of blood was found near the back of the seat; the third was on the floor, indicating that after he had been struck, he toppled over, his head resting on the other side of the seat.

This was learned by The Daily News today as authorities sought the hideout where Mr. Bremer, probably injured, is being held for $200,000 ransom.

Chief of Police Thomas E. Dahill declined to comment on the startling development in the case, but did not challenge the veracity of the information.

The gruesome index to the character of the kidnapers, who seized Mr. Bremer, probably about 9 a. m. Wednesday on Summit ave., was found shortly after the banker's abandoned car was found near the Highland Park reservoir, The Daily News learned.

DAHILL FINDS BLOOD.

The Daily News discovered that Chief Dahill, who has had 67 men on instant call but who has not yet officially entered the case, discovered the tell-tale blood stains upon examining the machine of the president of the Commercial State bank.

Meanwhile, the $200,000 ransom money was ready and awaited the crucial contact with the kidnapers for final instructions as to payment.

The victim's father, Adolph Bremer, head of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Co. and personal friend of President Roosevelt and others high in the national administration, begged publicly for police non-intervention.

"Leave us alone to carry through our plans," he pleaded. "We want to get Eddie back safely. That's all we ask."

In the belief they are dealing with a band of desperate criminals, police officials today equipped every man actively working on the case with bullet-proof vests.

A rush order for 25 of the vests was put in late Thursday by Chief Dahill.

The vests were secured as police "stood by" after the Bremer family had published a want ad in a Minneapolis paper announcing they were ready to pay the $200,000 ransom demanded by the kidnapers of the St. Paul banker, and as the family waited anxiously for further word from the kidnapers as to how to make contact and deliver the money.

Police and federal officials respected the wishes of the Bremer family, and kept out of the case, in response to a request that they do this until the abducted man is released.

Ban All Law Practice Of Party Chiefs

Dem Leaders Must Not Have Clients At Capitol, F. R. Edict.

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A clean sweep against the practice of combining the law and high party office in the capital was forecast today after a conference between President Roosevelt and Postmaster General Farley.
Further resignations from the Democratic national committee are likely.
The revelation Wednesday that Mr. Roosevelt objects to the custom of national committeemen practicing law here was followed by announcement of two resignations. Robert Jackson resigned as secretary and committeeman from New Hampshire, and Frank C. Walker resigned as treasurer.

It was learned that the question raised by President Roosevelt's attitude will be discussed with Arthur F. A. J., national committeeman for Nebraska, when he returns next week from Omaha.
Orman H. Ewing, Utah national committeeman, and Dudley Doolittle, committeeman for Kansas, were said to be in the same class with the others if they are practicing law here.

Last place where Edward G. Bremer, held by kidnapers today for $200,000 ransom, was seen was the Summit school, 1150 Goodrich ave., shown above. Mr. Bremer had taken his daughter Betty, 9, there from his home at 92 N. Mississippi River boulevard. After leaving the school, where he was seen, he started for his office at the Commercial State bank, 114 W. 6th st., of which he is president. It was believed he was snatched on Summit ave. in view of scores of unsuspecting motorists, although authorities, as yet, have discovered no witnesses.

The same source predicted that the crisis would be reached at the 1935 naval conference, but said significantly that Russia would participate in the conference if it were held. WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Administration leaders decided today to push the dollar revaluation bill through the house this week in the belief that the foreign exchange situation necessitates early use of the proposed $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.
Soon after the house convened at noon, the gold bill was favorably reported by the house coinage committee.
In some quarters the desire to put the huge stabilization fund into operation quickly was viewed as portending a battle of billions between Britain and the United States for control of foreign exchange.

Want Ad Signed Alice Tells Abductors That Demands Will Be Met

Police Halt All Activity On Request

Adolph Bremer — personal friend of President Roosevelt and Governor Olson—who was proffered the aid of the police forces of the nation, state and city, asked all police Thursday night to keep "hands off" the kidnaping of his son, Edward G. Bremer, until he could "get him back".

As Mr. Bremer made his request, Federal operatives who have led the way to the solution of some of the nation's gravest kidnapings mobilized in St. Paul. The St. Paul police and the State Bureau of Criminal Apprehension ordered every man to a position of readiness.

But Mr. Bremer, president of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Co., and a power in Northwest political and financial circles, asked them all to "wait, don't make a move that will endanger Eddie's safety".

They agreed to wait.

Adolph Bremer was the first man, so President Roosevelt said at the Chicago national convention which nominated him, to ever tell him he would some day be president of the United States.

LEGION OFFERS TO ESTABLISH BUREAU FOR WIDESPREAD SEARCH FOR HIDEOUT

The family and friends of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, kidnaped Wednesday, waited early today for his abductors to direct their next move toward effecting his release.

Their all-night vigil followed publication of a classified ad in the personals column of the Minneapolis Tribune Thursday morning reading:

"We are ready. Alice."

This was the signal the family was instructed to give when preparations were complete to open negotiations toward payment of the $200,000 ransom demanded for Mr. Bremer's release.

So far as could be determined, the kidnapers had made no attempt to contact any member or friend of the family up to 2 A. M. today. Authorities, complying with the family's request, were making no move in the case pending the safe return of Mr. Bremer.

Instructions for insertion of the classified ad were reported to have been included in the letter from the kidnapers found by Walter W. McGee, St. Paul contractor and friend of the family, at the rear door of his office at 118 West Central avenue Wednesday, after he had been informed of the abduction by a telephone call.

Hurls Book at Mob Alice Faints in Court

Collapse Follows Reading of Statement in Which She Ad- mitted Shooting Rheta.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A statement in which Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop admitted shooting her daughter-in-law, Rheta, in the back was accepted as evidence in her murder trial today—but no one could say whether it was evidence for or against her.

Judge Joseph B. David declared that if the jurors believed it they could return one of two verdicts—acquittal or involuntary manslaughter.
Attorneys said the manslaughter verdict in effect would free her.

After listening to the statement recounted three times from the witness stand, Dr. Alice appeared to be near exhaustion at the end of the day's court session. The 62-year-old woman physician slumped down in her chair, clutching at her daughter, Dr. Catherine Wynekoop, with both hands.

Hurried administration of digitalis to steady her heart appeared to restore the defendant almost immediately. Spectators sensing something was amiss, crowded around her chair and a defense lawyer hurled a law book in the battle to drive the throng back.

"It was a very serious heart attack," said Dr. Catherine after her mother had been removed to the nearby county jail infirmary. "She is over it now, but you can never tell when another will come."

The judge and jury had left the court room when the attack came.

In the statement, since retracted,
Dr. Alice said she fired the shot only after Rheta had administered to herself an overdose of chloroform to ease the pain of an internal physical examination.

For twenty minutes before she fired, Dr. Wynekoop said, examina-

TWO RESERVE CHIEFS OPPOSE GOLD SEIZURE

Morgenthau Submits Amend- ment to Simplify Huge Fed- eral Refunding Task.

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Plain-spoken opposition to giving the Treassystem's gold was presented to the Senate Banking committee tonight by Reserve board members, while Secretary Morgenthau submitted an amendment to the chief executive's monetary legislation to simplify the huge refunding task that lies just ahead.

Governor Black of the board told the committee it was all right for the Treasury to appropriate the profit in gold derived from revaluing the gold dollar but that the remaining 50 to 60 per cent of the Reserve bank's gold stocks should be left in those institutions.

Adolph Miller, a member of the board, contended that none of the bank's gold should be disturbed.
The government could be given a credit on the books of the banks, he suggested, for the gold profit. He asserted the legislation was aimed at "abrogation of the gold standard."

"I am so the impression has been spread that information has been given to the police," Mr. Bremer said at his home at 855 West Seventh street.
"Whatever information has been passed out has been given against my will and has created, through the newspapers, a wrong impression."

"Chief of Police Dahill has been fine in offering every help he can give us, and we all appreciate it, but we do not want the police of the state or Federal authorities to do anything about it now. We want to get Eddie back home safe."

Chief Dahill said his department is in readiness, but will do nothing to impair the safe return of Mr. Bremer.

Walter Magee, contractor friend of Mr. Bremer and according to Thursday's reports, the man who received first information of the kidnaping, asserted Thursday night that he had received no word since the kidnaping was reported to him, and that "I know nothing about it, have nothing to say".

aid in the search for Mr. Bremer, a fellow member, and the Federal Department of Justice had the full resources of its huge man-hunting machine available for the investigation.

Members of Mr. Bremer's immediate family continued their refusal to comment on the kidnaping Thursday night and Thomas R. Dahill, chief of police, asserted that, at the request of the family, he is doing nothing.

However, twenty detectives were kept at police headquarters in the Public Safety building in readiness for action the instant Mr. Bremer is released. Cots were set up for them in the police assembly hall and they slept in the station. Chief Dahill also remained at headquarters all night.

Frank J. Blake, star operative of the Department of Justice, arrived here Thursday night by airplane after a flight from Dallas, Texas, but declined all comment and after his departure from Holman Municipal Airport, could not be reached again during the night.

OTHER OPERATIVES BELIEVED EN ROUTE.

Blake directed the government's roundup of the kidnapers of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire. Besides him, it is believed several of the department's undercover men are on their way to St. Paul.

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington stated that J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the department's division of investigation, was preparing to use all the facilities of his nation-wide organization to solve the crime and apprehend the kidnapers.

Early in the evening it was reported that a contact with the kidnapers had been made but this was denied by Mr. Magee, who, it is expected, will be the agent of the family in the negotiations with the abductors.

Mr. Magee failed to attend an executive conference at police headquarters at 5 P. M., and this for a time lent credence to the report he was absent on a journey to meet the kidnapers. However, he returned to his home early in the evening and asserted he had received no message of any kind since the letter Wednesday morning.

QUICK PAYMENT IS EXPECTED.

The impression was gained that agents of the Bremer family were prepared to make a quick payment to effect Mr. Bremer's release.

Mr. Bremer, president of the Commercial State bank and son of Adolph Bremer, part owner of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Co., was seized between 8:30 and 9:30 A. M. Wednesday as he drove from the Summit school at Goodrich avenue and Dunlap street to the bank, Sixth and Washington streets to start work.

Mr. Bremer, as was his custom, had taken his 8-year-old daughter, Betty, to the Summit school on his way to work. After leaving her there, he usually drove down Summit avenue to the loop and it is believed the kidnapers stopped his car and seized him either on Summit avenue or in the downtown district.

NEC DIRECTORS CALLED TO MEET IN WASHINGTON

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—State directors of the National Executive council have been called to Washington for a meeting January 31. The call was made by Frank C. Walker, director of the council, after a talk today with President Roosevelt.

It is believed that Mr. Bremer and his family had intimations as recently as two weeks ago that his abduction was to be attempted. It was reported that Mr. Bremer employed a bodyguard for a time, dismissing it only a short time ago. He also is said to have told friends that, when arriving home at night, he made it a practice to make a careful survey of the premises before putting his car in the garage.

Late Thursday an air of quietness pervaded the Bremer home at 92 North Mississippi River boulevard, a large brick residence set among trees well back from River boulevard a short distance north of Summit avenue. No police guards could be seen and there appeared to be a complete lack of any activity.

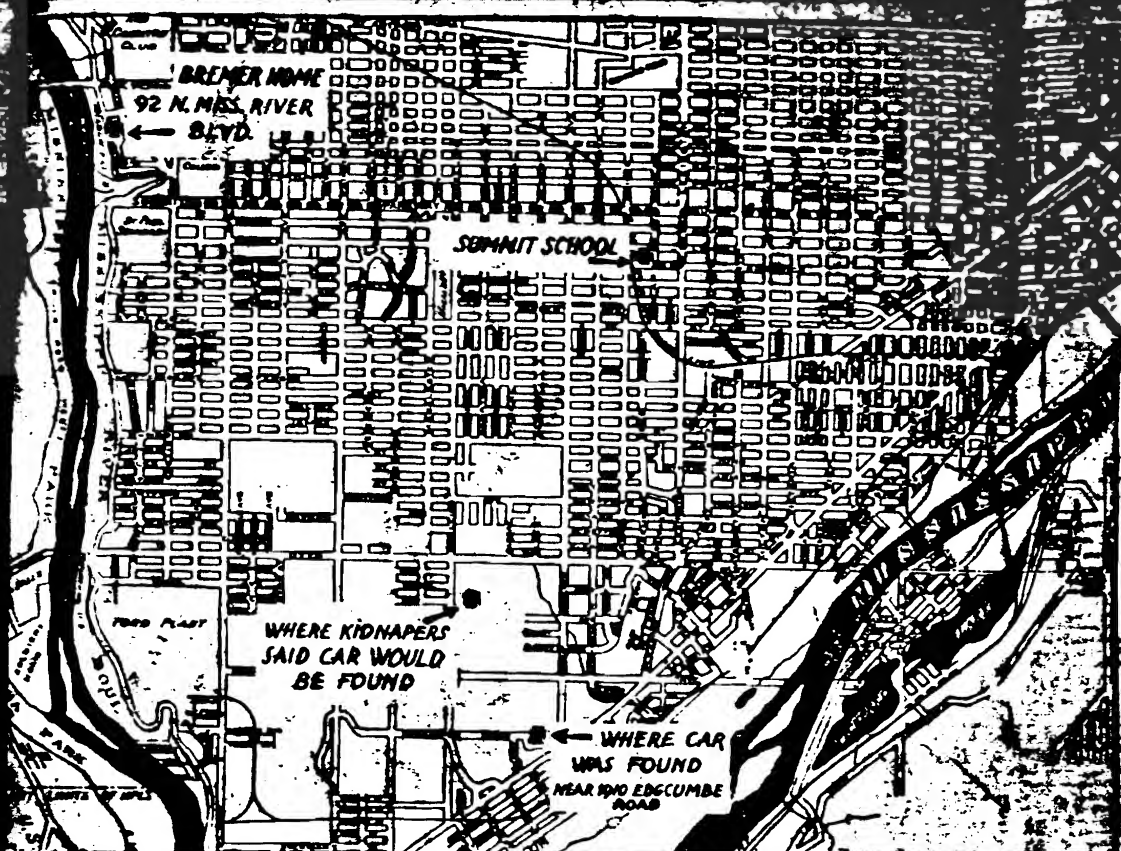

A Pioneer Press reporter, calling at the house, was met at the door by Werner Hanni, head of the Justice department here. Asked permission to interview Mrs. Bremer, Hanni refused.

"Mrs. Bremer cannot be seen by any one," he said.

He then was asked if Betty Bremer

PROBABLE ROUTE OF BREMER

The route which Edward Bremer, kidnaped St. Paul banker, is believed to have traveled Wednesday morning when he was taken by his abductors is designated on above map by a heavy dotted line. Mr. Bremer accompanied his 5-year-old daughter as far as the Summit school, Dunlap street and Good avenue, and was kidnaped somewhere between the school and Commercial State bank at Sixth and Washington streets, at which he presides.

FIGHT ON KIDNAP MENACE URGED HERE

"Horrible Situation," Says T. D. O'Brien, Director of Law and Order League.

The abduction of Edward Bremer, 37-year-old St. Paul banker—the fifth major abduction here in two and a half years—constitutes a "horrible situation," T. D. O'Brien, St. Paul attorney, asserted Thursday night.

Mr. O'Brien is a director of the newly formed Minnesota Law and Order League. In commenting on the Bremer kidnaping Mr. O'Brien made it understood he was not speaking for the organization.

Said Mr. O'Brien: "This crime is a striking illustration of the necessity for arousing the public to the deplorable condition that exists in this country. I personally think that citizens should support public authorities to the fullest extent in putting down the criminal wave. If we do not have enough police, let us get more. If a constabulary is necessary, let one be established. Let sufficient money be spent by private or public source to fully equip peace officers of the state so that these desperate gangsters can be fought on equal terms. The Bremer kidnaping is a horrible situation."

Mayor Mahoney issued a statement in which he said:

"The kidnaping of Mr. Bremer comes to me as a terrible shock. I am sure that every citizen of St. Paul experiences a deep sense of sorrow for Mr. Bremer's family and distress for his own return."

"Kidnaping has become an increasing menace which the national government has recognized by the passage of special legislation. This is an outrage to a challenge to every law-enforcing agency and every law-abiding citizen. I demand for a complete investigation of this case and the most prompt action to be taken to bring the kidnapers to justice."

Mr. O'Brien said that the kidnaping of Mr. Bremer was a "horrible situation" and that it was a "challenge to every law-enforcing agency and every law-abiding citizen."

POLITICS BLAMED FOR MAIL JOB LOSS

Could to Merge but Still Didn't Get Contract, Air Operator Says.

Washington, Jan. 13. — (AP) — The story of an independent airline that couldn't get a mail contract even though it agreed to a consolidation allegedly suggested by former Postmaster-General Walter F. Brown was unfolded today before the Senate small investigating committee. The investigators heard William Sachs, a former member of the Republican national committee from Missouri, tell how he interceded with town to assist the Robertson Airline but deny the implication that he was employed because of his political connections. The line was taking a contract to carry mail from St. Louis to New Orleans, along such route Frank Robertson said started the first regular service. It had into the records was a letter from Frank Robertson to his brother, W. B. Robertson, informing that Frank understood the Postoffice department wanted to do Sachs favor to insure his support of Hoover in the 1932 Republican convention.

Chairman Black, Democrat of Alabama, developed that Sachs had been a member of the Missouri delegation and had voted for Frank M. Lowden, Democrat, at the convention in 1928. The testimony of Sachs and the two brothers was given in the late afternoon.

FAMILY IN ST. PAUL
The family of the missing Edward Bremer is in St. Paul, Minn., where they are waiting for news of his return. The family is in a state of great anxiety and is being comforted by friends and neighbors. The Bremer family is one of the most prominent in St. Paul and the kidnapping of Edward has caused a great deal of concern in the community.

er had noticed an automobile following her or her father as they drove to Summit school Wednesday. "Betty doesn't know anything about it," Hanni said. "Her father took her to school and left her there and that is all she knows."

Officials at the school had no clues. They said Betty arrived Wednesday some time before 8:40 A. M., when school begins, but that they had not noticed her arrival particularly or observed Mr. Bremer drive away.

Mr. Bremer is a member of Post 8 of the American Legion as is William Hamm Jr., St. Paul brewer who paid $100,000 for his release from kidnapers last summer.

Robert G. Flynn, Fourth District Legion commander, and a score of assistants, kept long distance telephone wires out of St. Paul busy until an early hour today as they called state, district and post commanders to join in the search for Mr. Bremer and the kidnap gang. This hunt will include, according to tentative plans:

A search of the environs of every city, village and hamlet of the state by organized groups of Legionnaires to uncover possible gangster hideouts, find out whether residents have observed suspicious strangers recently or discover any other clues that might aid in the hunt.

Offer of the full manpower of Legion posts to village, city and county peace officers for use in running down clues, forming parties to any other purpose looking toward apprehension of the kidnapers.

Mr. Murray, the state commander, will W. George Lord to make the official announcement for the Legion department. But I am sure he will do his best to get the kidnapers to justice.

quarters of the Legion in the State Historical building here.

Enlistment of 80,000 Legionnaires in the neighboring states of Wisconsin, Iowa, North and South Dakota, in the search through an appeal to their department commanders by Michael Murray of St. Cloud, Minnesota commander.

Edward W. Carruth of Harrison, Kan., national vice commander of the Legion, who was in St. Paul Thursday night to address a past commanders dinner, gave the Legion search his hearty endorsement and assured St. Paul leaders that the national organization would lend any assistance it can.

"Gangland's outrageous affront to the forces of law and government in the kidnaping of Mr. Bremer, following only a few months on the seizure of Mr. Hamm, constitutes a challenge to the American Legion and all that it stands for," Mr. Flynn asserted.

"If this sort of thing is to continue, the time will come when no American home is safe from the rapacity of these bandits. The American Legion cannot stand by while such a catastrophe occurs."

"For that reason, and because Mr. Bremer, and Mr. Hamm as well, are members of a St. Paul Legion post, we of St. Paul are calling to every Legionnaire in Minnesota for his assistance in finding Mr. Bremer and rubbing down his abductors."

"Mr. Murray, the state commander, will W. George Lord to make the official announcement for the Legion department. But I am sure he will do his best to get the kidnapers to justice."

Report Contact Has Been Made
With Kidnappers

Foot print of the Edward G. Bremer abduction came through Walter W. Magee, head of the contracting firm that bears his name. The print, it is said, was made on Wednesday, two hours after the St. Paul banker was abducted, received a telephone call, informing him of the abduction. Mr. Magee was told that a ransom note was to be found at the back door of his office. The photograph shows the print along the ransom note was found. It showed the print to be prepared and that Mr. Magee was the first to see it.

Walter W. Magee, contact man, police, federal officers and members of the Bremer family were anxiously awaiting word from the kidnapers of Edward G. Bremer, Commercial State bank president, late today.

They did not know, it was reported, in what form the contact from the kidnapers would be made as the captors of the banker sought to secure the $200,000 ransom they have demanded for his safe return.

RANSOM REPORTED READY.

Police and relatives refused to state this afternoon whether they have answered the kidnapers' demand for the $200,000 ransom, but authoritative reports had it that the $200,000 in old bills, of small denominations and not consecutive in number, as demanded in the first note, is ready and waiting further word from the abductors.

Unofficial reports at police headquarters were that this information had been given to the snatchers, and further word as to the time and place of delivery of the ransom was being awaited.

Secrecy was being maintained as to the moves to contact the kidnapers, as it had been maintained since the abduction Wednesday morning.

IS SON OF BREWER.

Mr. Bremer, who is 37 and lives at 92 N. Mississippi River blvd., is the son of Adolph Bremer, 855 W. 7th st., part owner of the Schmidt Brewing Co., and a nephew of Otto Bremer, 1344 Summit ave., Minnesota manager, Home Owners Loan Corp., a Democratic political power and chairman of the American National bank.

He was kidnaped some time Wednesday morning and the first intimation of it was a telephone call to Mr. Magee, prominent St. Paul contractor, advising him of the "snatching" and telling where a note bearing the ransom could be found.

Must Press Fight On Gangsters, Asserts Law League Organizer

Judge Thomas D. O'Brien, who is actively engaged against the kidnapers, a Law and Order league, urged an increased police force and support of law enforcement agencies by the public when informed today of the kidnapping of Edward Bremer.

"This crime is but another instance," he said, "reestablishing the absolute necessity for a general movement to support public authority in putting crimes down.

"We must create a sentiment which will result in a sufficiently large force and equipment to cope with the steadily increasing number of the gangsters."

Judge O'Brien explained that he was speaking in behalf of the law and order league because organization has not advanced sufficiently to take part in such matters at this time. Judge O'Brien is chairman of the organization meeting of the league on the evening of Jan. 10. Dr. David A. Cowling, head of Carleton college, Northfield, is president. He is said to be in St. Louis.

"Crime," said Judge O'Brien on the day of the meeting, "must be fought with the auto, the airplane, the tank and above all, with money. We must either do this or have bodyguards to walk down the streets of St. Paul."

TO SUMMIT SCHOOL ON GOODRICH AVENUE

Edward G. Bremer, president of the Commercial State bank and a member of one of St. Paul's wealthiest families, was kidnaped for $200,000 ransom Wednesday morning.

Police say they have received no official notification of the crime and the family refused to discuss it.

Mr. Bremer is 37 years old and resides at 92 North Mississippi River boulevard. It is known he returned Tuesday from a business trip to Chicago. Efforts to effect his release are reported to have failed thus far.

SECOND MAJOR CASE IN 7 MONTHS.

It was the second big abduction in seven months of a member of a St. Paul brewing family. William Hamm Jr., president of the Hamm Brewing Co., paid $100,000 for his release last June.

Mr. Bremer is the son of Adolph Bremer, 833 West Seventh street, part owner of the First National Bank.

4 OTHER KIDNAPINGS IN 30 MONTHS HERE

Obtained $128,400 of $310,000 Demanded; Eight of 20 Suspects in Prison.

St. Paul has been the scene of four other major kidnappings in the past two and one-half years. From their four victims the abductors obtained $128,400 of the $310,000 demanded as ransom. All of the victims suffered physical hardships, but are alive today. Of the approximately 20 suspects in the four abductions, eight have been convicted. Here are details of the kidnappings in chronological order:

SEPTEMBER 24, 1931—Leon Gleckman, reputed political manipulator, kidnaped by four men. Held approximately a week in a Northern Wisconsin cabin. Ransom first demanded, $75,000; amount paid, $6,400, of which $5,500 was recovered. Five men serving terms in Stillwater for the abduction.

OCTOBER 5, 1931—Morris Rutman, dress shop owner, abducted from his home, 1079 Dayton avenue, by two men. Held for several days and tortured before released. Ransom asked, $100,000. Later reduced to $10,000. Reported to have been paid. Two men convicted and serving prison sentences. A third still sought for complicity in the case.

JUNE 30, 1932—Haskell Bohn, youthful son of a refrigerator manufacturer, kidnaped from garage at his home, 1405 Summit avenue and held until July 6 in a Minneapolis home. Abductors first demanded $35,000, but released Bohn for $12,000. One man convicted and serving sentence, and the wife of another suspect, whom police since have sought, acquitted of complicity.

JUNE 15, 1933—William Hamm Jr., millionaire brewer, kidnaped by two men as he left his office. Believed to have been taken to Wisconsin and held for $100,000, which was paid shortly before his release, June 19. Four men, three of whom now are on trial for the Jake Factor abduction in Chicago, were acquitted of Hamm kidnaping charges. The fourth hanged himself in Ramsey county jail.

Kidnapers are reported to have seized him between 8:15 A. M. and 10 A. M. Wednesday, possibly on Summit avenue or in downtown St. Paul.

As was his custom, he drove his 8-year-old daughter, Betty, to Summit school, 1150 Goodrich avenue, where she is a pupil in the third grade, and apparently continued on his way to the bank at Sixth and Washington streets to begin his day's work.

His route probably lay east on Summit avenue to Sixth street and thence to the bank. Somewhere along this line the gangsters are believed to have forced his automobile to a halt and taken him. He failed to show up at the bank.

According to reports the next heard of Mr. Bremer, a telephone jingled in the office of Walter W. Magee, 118 West Central avenue, general contractor, an associate of the Bremers and builder of the new state office building. Mr. Magee also said he knew nothing of the affair.

PHONE CALL TELLS WHERE TO FIND CAR.

A low voice is said to have told Mr. Magee he could find the Bremer car at the Highland park water tower, Snelling and Otto avenues, and a note on the back door step of his home, 1295 Lincoln avenue.

The contractor, trying to prolong the conversation is reported to have hastily instructed Ed Penschuck, former city deputy commissioner of public utilities, who was in the office, to get on another line to trace the call, but the kidnaper clicked his receiver and the effort failed.

Magee speeded home and found the note where he had been told it would be. It was addressed to "Charles Magee," was written on a typewriter and signed in ink. The signature was shaky, indicating the author perhaps was nervous.

Bremer's automobile was not found at the Highland Park water tower, where the telephoner is reported to have said it had been left, but was near the home of Martin Thornton, 1910 Edgcombe road, president of Thornton brothers' contracting concern, more than a mile away.

Michael F. Kinkead, Ramsey county attorney, hastened back to St. Paul Wednesday night from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where he had stopped en route to a southern resort with his wife, who is ill. This lent credence to the reports of the kidnaping. George F. Sullivan, United States district attorney, conferred this morning with Mr. Kinkead.

The Bremer kidnaping follows acquittals in two St. Paul kidnaping trials. Mrs. Verne Sankey won a "not guilty" verdict in the abduction of Haskell Bohn, 1405 Summit avenue, son of a refrigerator manufacturer.

The second acquittal was that of the Touhy gang November 28. Roger Touhy, Gus Schafer, Eddie McFadden and Willie Sharkey were cleared by a Federal District court jury of the kidnaping of William Hamm. Three days after acquittal, however, Sharkey hanged himself in Ramsey county jail and the other three are on trial in Chicago for the snatching of John (Jake the Barber) Factor, speculator.

WON HIGH UNIVERSITY DEGREES.

Mr. Bremer is a native of St. Paul. Born in the family home- stead, 855 West Seventh street, he was educated in primary schools here and attended George Washington university in Washington, D. C., winning a master's and a bachelor of laws degree.

Returning here in 1919, he went to work as messenger boy in his father's bank, the Commercial State, when it was at Seventh Corners. He worked himself up through all the positions, teller, bookkeeper, cashier, and finally took his father's place as president of the institution.

Mr. Bremer was married about ten years ago to Miss Emily Esswein of Minneapolis. The couple have one child, Betty. He has one brother, Adolph Jr., 855 West Seventh street; and three sisters, Louise, 855 West Seventh, whose engagement to George Benz of St. Paul recently was announced; Mrs. Franklyn Holloway Matson (Katherine Bremer), 881 Fairmount avenue, and Mrs. Victor Philip Reim (Marie Bremer) of New Ulm, Minn. His mother is dead.

AAA WORKS, SOLONS TOLD BY WALLACE

Secretary Concedes, However, That Not All Phases Have Succeeded.

Washington, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace stepped before a Senate committee today with the assertion that the first eight months operation of the greatest farm experiment ever conducted in this country had provided a "conclusive demonstration" that it would work.

Before accounting for his stewardship over the agricultural adjustment act, Wallace first looked ahead to the possible development later of "longer-term plans which will provide for more flexibility on individual farms."

The farm chief, appearing by invitation before the Senate agriculture committee, was generally optimistic. Farmers signing contracts to reduce production, he said, had carried through "almost 100 per cent."

Some Plans Fail.

At the same time, he conceded his administration had failed to carry out all of its plans, particularly with milk marketing agreements.

"Although conceivable we might fail to readjust agriculture in the future because we were unable to devise plans which would meet the needs of the situation," he said, "the experience of this year has demonstrated that so long as plans can be devised which appeal to farmers as practical and sound and in their own interest we will not fail because farmers will not co-operate with us or because the job of working out that co-operation is impossible."

Wallace then declared "the experience of 1933" stood as proof "that those phases of the agricultural adjustment act which its opponents declared were administratively impossible of achievement can be carried out."

"The operations with wheat, cotton and tobacco have demonstrated conclusively that farmers will co-operate in controlling their own production," Wallace said.

Decentralizes Job.

"By decentralizing the responsibility for making the manifold decisions involved in carrying out each of these plans, and using the full facilities of the federal-state extension services, it has been found both feasible and practical to carry through operations involving hundreds of thousands and millions of individual farmers."

He asserted some of the achievements thus far included reducing the world carryover of American cotton to about 10,500,000 bales as compared with 13,000,000 bales in the summer of 1932; nearly doubling the income of Southern cotton farmers in 1933; obtaining agreements from 80 per cent of the nation's wheat farmers to reduce their production by 15 per cent; payments to wheat farmers of $25,000,000; the institution of production control measures for rice and tobacco; and the purchase of 6,420,000 pigs and sows as initial steps in a corn-hog program.

Most rapid strides, he said, were made during the eight months in controlling cotton production, resulting in co-operating farmers receiving almost the full parity income on that part of their crop consumed domes-program un- necessary and, instead, efforts cente- n the program for 1934, with ne- tions being carried on with foreign countries to further an international readjustment of wheat supplies.

Because the acreage reduction was only about eight-tenths of that expected, he said, it was indicated that some non-co-operating farmers increased their acreage while some contract signers planted more. The latter must remove their excess plantings before they can receive further benefit payments, Wallace declared.

Wheat farmers are also receiving almost full parity income, he added, with about 500,000 farmers in 1,700 counties of 37 states receiving first benefit payments of 20 cents per bushel. In addition to payments to date of 28 million dollars, he said, 42 million dollars of the initial payments have yet to be made.

Wallace said that after excess cotton has been consumed and a normal market returns an outlet for the production of possibly 40 million acres will develop.

Wheat Demand Decreases.

Reduction in the demands for wheat with changing consumption habits has been so great, however, he added, that "barring wars, we may never again need as much land in wheat production as we had during the past decade."

Regarding the processing taxes levied on wheat and cotton, the secretary said "it is as yet too early to tell exactly what the effect of the tax on consumption will be."

However, he added, "the evidence seems quite clear in both cases, that practically the full amount of the tax has been passed on to the consumers and that the application of the tax has had little or no effect on prices paid to producers."

Wallace urged livestock producers to "be patient for a time while we are trying to work their problems out."

Effects of the emergency pig slaughter program last fall will be felt on the markets between now and May 1, Wallace maintained.

craft as sign language for "we are shipping water."

Medora Gebben completed the message, "three women on board," by standing atop the towing cabin and raising her arms high above her head three times.

The Gulfland put out a boat too small to buck the great waves, and had to return. A 36-passenger life boat was lowered.

So rough was the sea the life boat could make no contact with the Alamyth. It tossed several feet away. The sailors in it braced themselves, held out their arms and to them were hurled the three women, one at a time.

The men of the sinking craft were able to leap across the space. It was bitter cold, they said. Mrs. Conklin was clad only in pajamas. Miss Gebben had only a sport suit. Mrs. Franklin Kobbé was clad in a dress, but had no coat.

With great difficulty the life boat was rowed back to the Gulfland, four oars breaking as waves whipped the sides.

The transfer later from the Gulfland to the cutter Thetis was almost as difficult.

ARMS ULTIMATUM OF FRANCE REVEALED

Internationalization of Decreased Air Forces One of Nine Points.

Paris, Jan. 18.—(AP)—France has informed Germany that "automatic, periodic and equal supervision" of all armaments must be the foundation of any disarmament agreement, it was learned today.

The stand was taken in a memorandum transmitted to Berlin January 1. The German answer is expected daily.

The memorandum, it was learned on highest authority, makes the following points:

1. Any new non-aggression pact must offer additional guarantees of security without weakening the old ones.
2. Supervision of armaments must be accepted by all nations signing the pact.
3. Any consideration of German army strength must take into account police and other organized forces, such as the Nazi storm troops.
4. France is willing to reduce her army on a parallel with transformation of the German army into a similar defensive short-term conscript army.
5. France is willing to halt her armaments at the present level of armaments and forbid the manufacture of cannon of a higher caliber than that accepted by other nations.
6. The plan is to be divided into two phases, the first of which would be experimental.
7. France is willing to abolish bombing planes and to destroy 50 per cent of her present equipment if this is accepted by other states.
8. The internationalization of all air forces is desired.
9. Negotiations must be made at Geneva within the League of Nations.

'Martha' to Be Second Offering For Civic Opera

Will Be Given at 3 Evening Performances March 21, 22 and 24.

"Martha" has been selected by the Civic Opera company as its second offering of the season. It will be presented at three evening performances, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, March 21, 22 and 24.

Mrs. W. Homer Sweeney, president of the Civic Opera association, in making the announcement commented upon the generosity of the public response to the first production, that of "Samson and Delilah" presented at the Auditorium recently.

"We have been encouraged to add a third performance," she said, "by the fact that the local audience testified so heartily to its interest in our work. It is gratifying to be able to extend the engagement because it enables us not merely to offer the opera to more people but it keeps a large number of people employed for a longer time."

With the production of "Martha," an opera in light vein by Flotou, the chorus will be increased from 75 to 95 and the ballet will be increased to 45.

Those in charge of special functions of direction are Mrs. Beatrice L. Thurston, Thure Frederickson and Lillian Nelson. Victor Hubal will be in charge of the scenery; Ralph Smalley in charge of lighting; Mrs. Martin Giesen will direct the costuming and Miss Marie Rothfuss, the dancing. Hyman Weinstein will be chairman of the music committee.

The Civic Opera association has appointed W. H. Hadlick as business manager. He has reopened offices at 649 Hamm building.

$600,000 WELFARE AID BONDS VOTED

City's Bonded Indebtedness to Be Within $186,294 of Legal Limit.

Placing the city within $186,294 of its legal bonded indebtedness limit, the City Council voted today to issue $600,000 in welfare aid bonds. The resolution providing issuance of the bonds was introduced by Mayor Mahoney. Introducing the resolution, the mayor said: "The Ramsey county assessor soon will make a reassessment of St. Paul property, and if the valuation drops we will not be able to borrow further money for our needs." Figures from the city comptroller's office showed that on December 31 the city's bonded indebtedness was within $1,186,294 of the limit. With the authorized issuance of $400,000 in paying aid bonds, voted several weeks ago, the new $600,000 issue will reduce the margin $1,000,000, the comptroller's figures show.

M'CORMICK AUCTION BRINGS $47,512.50

Daughter Gets Many Pieces From 34-Room Chicago Mansion.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Moving vans and trucks backed in at the grey turreted mansion on Lake Shore drive today and began carting away the rich furnishings that had belonged to the late Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick.

The contents of the 34-room mansion, much of it appraised as museum pieces, was sold at auction and realized a total of $47,512.50.

With the furnishings of Villa Turicum, Mrs. McCormick's Lake Forest estate, yet to be sold to the highest bidder, the personal property of the social arbitrator, whose wealth was once rated at 50 million dollars, is going under the hammer to satisfy claims against the estate.

Daughter Avid Bidder.
Mrs. McCormick's daughter, Muriel, now Mrs. Elsha Dyer Hubbard, was an avid bidder of her mother's possessions both in New York and Chicago.

Today she was successful in securing for a bid of $935 the furnishings of her mother's room in the town house with the exception of a daybed which went to a close friend of the late social leader.

Mrs. McCormick's room on the second floor was furnished in Louis XIV period with most of the pieces imported from Paris. They included a carved and gilded bedstead with rose taffeta canopy, which went to Mrs. Hubbard for $100. A French Nineteenth century Louis Philippe Aubusson carpet cost Mrs. Hubbard $300.

As Mrs. Hubbard was bidding in the Louis XVI finely carved marble mantelpiece, which she obtained for $55, some one raised a window shade and across Lake Shore drive could be seen the fourth story window of the room in the Drake hotel where the daughter of John D. Rockefeller Sr. died of cancer and complications in August, 1932.

Buys Expensive Car.
Mrs. Hubbard also obtained for $1,800 her mother's town car, a handsome vehicle of foreign make. It originally cost $24,000 and was trimmed in solid gold.

A buyer who frequently contested with Mrs. Hubbard was the representative of John F. Cuneo, head of a Chicago publishing firm.

He succeeded in securing for Cuneo several important pieces, including paneling from three rooms—the richly carved French 18th century dining room paneling for $1,075 and the parcel-gilded mahogany paneling with fireplace in the empire room for $310.

Richard Levy, one of the auctioneers, expressed satisfaction at the receipts, saying it was difficult to dispose of the type of furnishings such as Mrs. McCormick had collected because not many Americans have homes in which to suitably display them.

The sale of the library realized $3,676.50. Mrs. Hubbard sought to bid in the books closely associated with her mother or containing her book plate.

Hecklers Told They Are Losing Power in Bo

Not Afraid to Face Home Constituency Again, Says MacDonald.

Seaham Harbor, England, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald Wednesday visited his constituency for the first time since election which put the national government into the saddle. He was butt of some booing and considerable heckling.

The remarks, however, did not make one gray hair of his head. Speaking in defense of the government's policy, the premier gave critics the goods he received them, finally telling them they were not afraid to return and then again.

Boos mingled with cheers as MacDonald rose, but he called them "a most excellent gurgur", adding that "The last I was here was before the election and on that occasion the boos were more successful than tonight."

Later, as he elaborated on the government's accomplishments, a man who had been interrupted chimed in with: "Yes, 1934 a year when the premier mentioned his salary cut."

Turning to the woman, the minister said: "I know you manage my job very well you. It would give me at any chance to live a quiet life." "Will you be high in the sky you die?" asked another he to which MacDonald shot: "Many thousands who save their lives that others might were inspired by that at which have sneered."

The Nazis were demonstrated throughout the nation, but the least disturbance was in front of picturesque Karls Kirache where concentrated after being through the side streets of "Ambassadors Quarters," where of the foreign legations are situated.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is glad to learn from Mr. Cummings, United States attorney general, that his monetary plan for a less expensive dollar and more expensive gold is constitutional. It is constitutional, also, for the government to take any gold that citizens may have and pay them at the old $20 an ounce price. It is perhaps advisable for congress to pass a law indorsing the money plan and the attorney general's decision. The constitution says something about confiscation "without due process of law." Legislation by congress will fix that.

When anything good is found, a gold strike, or anything of that kind, it is wise to hunt around for more.

Twenty-six years ago, at Elands Fontein, 20 miles from Pretoria in South Africa, there was discovered the huge Cullinan diamond, biggest ever known. The Transvaal government gave it to Edward VII 26 years ago. Several stones were cut from that Cullinan diamond. The biggest, the "Star of Africa," is now in the British royal sceptre.

The next largest is in the British crown. They add to King George's royal majesty.

Recently somebody convinced that where you find one big diamond you might find another, has found in a loose stone, not far from the spot where the Cullinan was found, two very large diamonds, one weighing 508, the other 726 carats, the bigger stone perfect and flawless. The finder has refused $375,000 "contemptuously" for these two pieces of almost pure carbon.

Two thousand are reported killed in India, the streets of one city filled with ruins and dead bodies.

Mr. Bremer, son of Adolph Bremer, head of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Co., and nephew of Otto Bremer, chairman of the board of the American National bank, was snatched somewhere between his home and bank at 9 a. m. Wednesday, it was disclosed today. There were apparently no witnesses to the kidnaping, so carefully was it planned.

Chief Thomas E. Dahill today admitted that he had heard "rumors" of the reported kidnaping and was making every effort to run them down. He said he has as yet received no official notification of it from the Bremer family.

So perfectly was the kidnaping planned that police and federal agents have been unable to locate any witnesses and had but few clues to guide them.

The United States up to 1929, did quite well without extensive official sterilization or government-encouraged birth control. Poor women, of course, are entitled to full knowledge concerning control of the number of children they choose to have. But fewer babies in the United States, barring children of the very poor, whose parents can not give them proper care, would be a calamity. # For News Of Kidnaped Husband

Reporters Denied Interview, Forcibly Ejected From Home.

In her fashionable, luxuriously furnished home, 92 N. Mississippi river blvd., Mrs. Edward G. Bremer sat and waited today for some word from her kidnaped husband.

She was alone in her large house with only a maid. Her daughter had been sent away. The housework had been done; magazines laid geometrically neat, every chair was in its spotless corner. Mrs. Bremer waited beside the telephone in a balcony sitting room.

Anger, Fear Mingle.

The longer she waited, the more anger became mixed with worry—anger against a state that permitted such crimes.

Reporters rang the bell. The maid answered, took the names.

From her balcony telephone, Mrs. Bremer said she had nothing to say. "Can we have just a minute, just a couple of questions," the reporters pleaded, through a crack in the door of the little anteroom into which the maid had admitted them.

"No, I don't want to see you. There's nothing here anyway." "You mean it isn't true that your husband has been kidnaped?" a reporter called through the door.

A pause followed, then a weak but unconvincing, "yes."

Reporters Ousted.

Another ring at the door interrupted the conversation. A Minneapolis reporter arrived, also pleaded to see Mrs. Bremer.

Very quickly she came down the stairs and into the anteroom, thrust the maid inside declaring, "You get in out of this cold."

Her face was pale but composed, very, and determined. "Now you get out, all of you, I'll not see you," she shouted and grabbing each by the collar with a none too gentle hold, pushed each reporter out in turn, closed and locked the door and evidently went back to her telephone.

Northwest Bancorporation Obtains Writ To Block State Sift Of Stock Sales

A federal court order today was served on the state commerce commission temporarily blocking its investigation of alleged fraudulent stock sales by the Northwest Bancorporation.

The restraining writ, obtained by the corporation from Judge J. W. Molyneux, Minneapolis, is returnable Jan. 2. The writ also restrains the commission from instituting any lawsuit against the corporation.

At the same time the corporation asked the commission to rescind the order issued in November which started the investigation of its stock sales.

S. Paul Skahen, state securities commissioner, said he will consult with the attorney general immediately as to his future course of action.

The hearing before the state commission has been under way for some time, but recently was continued until Friday.

In a stroke as sensational as that of the William Hamm, Jr., kidnapping, Mr. Bremer, president of the Commercial State bank, was abducted about 9 a. m. Wednesday, it was disclosed today.

Payrolls In Single Week $1,596,078.

Approximately 100,000 Minnesota men and women are now employed in both CWA and CWS projects in the state with an increase expected this week, Frank M. Rarig, Jr., executive secretary state CWA committee, reported today.

His report, made to Corrington Gill, CWA, Washington, D. C., shows that during the week ending Jan. 11, there were 86,126 men and women employed in both civil works administration and civil works service projects in Minnesota. There are now 4,718 CWA projects under way.

He estimated that employment rolls in both branches would show an increase during the current week, with approximately 95,176 men and women at work.

Aggregate payrolls for both divisions during the week covered in the report were $1,596,078.30. Workers were employed a total of 2,533,124 hours.

His report follows:

Civil Works Projects.
Men	79,988.00
Hours	2,370,856.00
Amount paid	$1,500,898.29
Estimated No. this week	84,719.00

Civil Works Service Projects.
Men	6,138.00
Hours	182,268.00
Amount paid	$95,182.01
Estimated No. this week	10,457.00

CWA projects include those directly connected with construction work or those leading directly or indirectly to possible construction work in the future.

CWS projects include those directly relating to relief offices, such as nursing services, interviewing and investigating; work in sewing and canning centers and "all projects such as vocational education, adult education, nursery schools and the like."

With Edward G. Bremer, president of the Commercial State bank, held by kidnapers for $200,000 ransom, W. W. Magee, head of the general contracting firm, apparently has been chosen by the abductors as the contact man. First word of Mr. Bremer's abduction was received by Mr. Magee, shown above, when, about 11 a. m. Wednesday, he received a mysterious telephone call, saying that his intimate friend, Mr. Bremer, was being held and that he would find a ransom note at the back door of his office. Rushing there, Mr. Magee found a crudely typewritten but legible note, demanding $200,000 ransom.

Dr. Wynekoop's Confession To Go Before Jury

By United Press.
CRIMINAL COURT BUILDING.
CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—The major battle of the Rheta Wynekoop murder case was fought today over Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop's so-called "confession" of the mysterious crime.

Judge Joseph B. David indicated he would admit the "confession" in evidence.

"That isn't a confession," he said. "It is an exculpation. The jury would have to find Dr. Wynekoop not guilty or guilty of involuntary manslaughter on the basis of the statement."

Within two hours after Mr. Bremer was snatched, his kidnapers, in a second daring coup, had put into motion machinery to effect his release on payment of $200,000, twice the amount asked by the men who grabbed William Hamm, Jr., president of the Hamm Brewing Co., last June 16.

It was believed that Mr. Bremer was kidnaped on Summit ave., in full view of unsuspecting motorists. Once news of his abduction was released, it was thought that witnesses would be found.

Within a short time after notification that Mr. Bremer was being held, his automobile was found abandoned two miles north of the city.

He is the son of Adolph Bremer, head of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Co., and a nephew of Otto Bremer, chairman of the board of the American National bank, both powerful men in northwest financial and political circles.

His father is a friend of President Roosevelt and of officials high in the administration.

TRACK DOWN MEAGER CLUES.

Throwing forces together, federal agents and police began immediately to track down meager clues, and, leaving lanes open to effect Mr. Bremer's release, withheld news of his snatching until today.

County Attorney Michael F. Kinkead, en route to Florida with his wife and son, Michael Jr., returned to St. Paul this morning and immediately went into conference with police and federal authorities. Assistants in his office called towns and cities along Mr. Kinkead's route, located him at Cedar Rapids, Ia., at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Leaving his car there, Mr. Kinkead, his wife and son, returned by train. He was taking Mrs. Kinkead to Florida to recuperate from illness. The three had left St. Paul Wednesday morning.

Mr. Kinkead was to confer today with George Sullivan, United States district attorney. Sitting in on the parley will be Assistants James F. Lynch and William F. Desmond and John A. Pearson, first assistant county attorney.

Authorities believed that the abduction had been carried out by a gang "emboldened by its success in the Hamm snatching."

CASES ARE SIMILAR.

So many parallels were discovered between the two cases that authorities were inclined to believe that the same mob effected both snatchings.

Scanning similarities in the two cases, police pointed out that both men are in their late 30's; both were kidnaped between their homes and offices; both were missed only when kidnapers' first ransom notes were received; both "contacts" were made through close friends; ransom notes in each case were couched in similar terms.

First word of the Bremer abduction came through Walter W. Magee, head of the general contracting firm bearing his name.

Mr. Magee was seated in his office at 118 W. Central ave. about 11 a. m. Wednesday when the telephone rang.

Answering it, he heard a gruff voice say: "This Mr. Magee? Well, your pal Eddie Bremer has been kidnaped. Now don't get excited. Just go to the back door of your office and you'll find further instructions. His automobile is out at the Highland park reservoir."

The telephone clicked, and Mr. Magee was left holding a dead line.

FINDS TYPEWRITTEN NOTE.

He turned, raced to the back door, found a crudely typewritten but legible note telling him to just raise "200 grand" and "wait."

The note specified that the money be in bills of small denominations and that the serial numbers

Ban All Law Practice Of Party Chiefs

Dem Leaders Must Not Have Clients At Capitol, Is F. R. Edict.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A clean sweep against the practice of combining the law and high party office in the capital was forecast today after a conference between President Roosevelt and Postmaster General Farley.

Further resignations from the Democratic national committee are likely.

The revelation Wednesday that Mr. Roosevelt objects to the custom of national committeemen practicing law here was followed by announcement of two resignations. Robert Jackson resigned as secretary and committeeman from New Hampshire, and Frank C. Walker resigned as treasurer.

It was learned that the question raised by President Roosevelt's attitude will be discussed with Arthur F. Mullen, national committeeman for Nebraska, when he returns next week from Omaha.

Orman H. Ewing, Utah national committeeman, and Dudley Doolittle, committeeman for Kansas, were said to be in the same class with the others. If they are practicing law here.

Some in America agree with him, but primitive human nature demands the right to organize itself mysteriously, such organizations flatter the conceit of semi-barbaric people, and it is dangerous to check such primitive impulses.

Silently, quietly as the Arabs folded their tents and stole away, 163 big ships from Europe and Canada abandoned "rum row," 12 miles off the coast of New York, sadly gave up their profitable bootlegging enterprises. Repeal of prohibition accomplished that.

The rum row ships are said to have taken their cargoes of 2,000,000 gallons, chiefly rye and bourbon whisky, to West Indian ports, where they can ship it into the United States "legitimately." A great part of the whisky is expected to come here from British Honduras, through New Orleans.

Government officials express satisfaction that "the supply of available liquor in this country will be increased."

WHERE KIDNAPED BANKER WAS LAST SEEN

Last place where Edward G. Bremer, held by kidnapers today for $200,000 ransom, was seen was the ave., shown above. Mr. Bremer had taken his daughter Betty, 9, there from his home at 92 N. Mississippi the school, where he was seen, he started for his office at the Commercial State bank, 114 W. 6th st. was believed he was snatched on Summit ave. in view of scores of unsuspecting motorists, although at no witnesses.

should not be consecutive. The money was to be "old."

The note threatened death for Mr. Bremer unless all contact details were adhered to and unless the money was immediately forthcoming.

After consulting with the Bremer family, Mr. Magee, despite the warning, communicated with authorities.

Police immediately searched the Highland Park district and found the car on Edgumbe road.

Also, Mr. Bremer left the home at 92 N. Mississippi River boulevard for the Summit school, 1150 Goodrich ave. It was his custom when motoring to his office to drop his only child at the Summit school. She is Betty, 9. He did this Wednesday morning.

CHOICE OF SEVERAL ROUTES.

Authorities were inclined to believe that because the Bremer car was found near the Dale st. reservoir that it was placed there to lead them onto a blind trail. They were certain that the abductors had taken another direction.

If the kidnaping occurred near Summit school, it was pointed out, kidnapers had choice of several routes over a confusion of streets—backward, to the west, is the Mississippi river and Minneapolis, and to the north and south at the ends of streets are well paved roads.

State Seizes Liquor Disguised As Candy

Seizure of 475 cases of "candy" today blocked plans of a Chicago manufacturer to distribute disguised liquor in Minnesota.

The candy called "kikkets," appeared on retail counters the past few days. It attracted attention of state dairy and food inspectors.

E. A. Trovatten, dairy and food commission, ordered seizure of 475 cases stored in a Minneapolis warehouse.

Each piece of candy, which retails at 5 cents, contains a small amount of whisky. Inspectors said 10 of the candies constituted about one ordinary drink.

Rush Rum Plans

Councilmen Plan For Legal Sale About Noon On Saturday.

St. Paul's first legal liquor sale may be made about noon Saturday. This was assured today as the city council unanimously passed the liquor control ordinance, providing for the licensing of on-and-off-sale dispensaries.

The ordinance becomes effective with publication of the measure in the St. Paul Review, which editors today said would be issued about noon Saturday.

In the meantime city officials were rushing plans to grant a few on-sale licenses Saturday.

Scheduled for this afternoon was a meeting of the council's licensing committee, Commissioners J. H. M. Donald, I. C. Pearce and Fred J. Truax, to consider on-sale applications.

Move To Hurry Passing Of F. R. Gold Plan Bill

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Administration leaders decided today to push the dollar revaluation bill through the house this week in the belief that the foreign exchange situation necessitates early use of the proposed $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

Soon after the house convened at noon, the gold bill was favorably reported by the house coinage committee.

In some quarters the desire to put the huge stabilization fund into operation quickly was viewed as portending a battle of billions between Britain and the United States for control of foreign exchange.

Gold Still Good

Banks Continue To Accept Coins Under New U. S. Order.

Member banks of the Federal Reserve system continued today to exchange other federal currency, dollar for dollar, for gold coins or gold certificates under an amended order issued by the treasury department at Washington.

The original order had fixed Wednesday as the last day for such exchange, but today's supplementary order is continuing in effect and without specific date of expiration.

The new order directs all fiscal agents of the treasury not only to continue to accept gold coins and certificates at face value until further notice, but also to pay $20.67 an ounce for gold bullion, according

Points Farm Research Need

Prof. Stakman Addresses Homemakers' Meet.

The need of research in agriculture was never greater than at present, Dr. E. C. Stakman, professor of plant pathology at university farm, told a farmers and homemakers assembly at the farm school today.

More than 1,000 persons are attending the sessions, which opened Monday and will continue through Friday.

"The agricultural situation is constantly changing," Dr. Stakman said. "New economic demands are being made, new enemies of crop plants are being introduced and produced by natural means. Similarly, other problems of agriculture, either present or in the offing, require that the search for facts be pushed forward unrelentingly."

Five Minnesota farmers were awarded gold medals for seed improvement work by the Minnesota Crop Improvement association during its annual dinner at university farm Wednesday night.

The "premier seed growers" are: Theodore Mellum of Ulen; J. C. Botherwick of Breckenridge; William Friedrichs of Foxhome; Carl Oistad of Hanska, and H. B. Pederson of Franklin.

The contest is sponsored jointly by the Northwest Crop Improvement association and the University of Minnesota department of agriculture. Thirty-three such medals have been presented during the last five years on recommendation from the university after nomination by neighbors, county agents or others.

Get Rum Stamps

To Be Given to Wholesalers, Dealers On Monday.

State liquor tax stamps will be delivered to manufacturers, wholesalers and drug stores Monday, David R. Arundel, state liquor commissioner, announced today.

The stamps will be delivered to the firms by state liquor inspectors who will then sell and immediately cancel sufficient stamps to cover all sales made since 12:01 a. m. Jan. 9. The inspectors at the same time will sell additional stamps for future sales.

Mr. Arundel also said that no "off-sale" licenses have been issued by his office to date.

Two new liquor inspectors named by the commissioner today are Roy Cusick, 323 Vance st., St. Paul, and J. M. Reinartz, Little Fork. This brings the total of inspectors to six. Four more will be appointed.

Builders Exchange Dinner Tuesday.

The 28th annual dinner of the St. Paul Builders Exchange will be held in the Hotel Lowry at 6 p. m. Tuesday, according to L. H. Sault, president. More than 400 persons are expected to attend.

Funerals

JOHN H. RYAN.

Funeral services for John H. Ryan, 822 Hague ave., former city assessor who fell dead Tuesday, will be held at 9 a. m. Friday at St. Luke's Catholic church, Summit and Lexington aves. Surviving are two sons, William F. Ryan, St. Paul, and John H. Ryan, Jr., Los Angeles.

MRS. SARAH HORWITZ.

Mrs. Sarah Horwitz, 78, 1387 Fairmount ave., a resident of St. Paul for 54 years, died today at St. Luke's hospital. Surviving are two sons, Henry Horwitz, state representative, and Dr. H. B. Horwitz, St. Paul, and four daughters, Mrs. Hannah Rose and Mrs. Mattie Dockman, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Nellie Silverman, and Mrs. Ruth Berman, St. Paul.

DR. BENJAMIN F. SIMON.

Pallbearers for Dr. Benjamin F. Simon, city health officer for nearly 16 years, will be Dr. R. B. J. Schoch, Dr. A. E. Nichols, Gus Barfuss, Florian P. Ritschel, John Andree and Howard Kingston, when his funeral services are held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Masonic temple, 6th st. and Smith ave. The Damascus commandery, Knights Templar, will furnish the escort while the services will be conducted by Braden Lodge No. 168, A. F. and A. M. Dr. Simon died suddenly Monday night after shoveling snow in front of his home, 511 Capitol blvd.

Civic Company Rehearsing For Opera 'Martha'

Enthusiasm shown on the last production of the St. Paul Civic Opera company, "Samson and Delilah," has prompted the announcement of another opera for this season, according to Mrs. W. Homer Sweney, president.

Flotow's "Martha" will be presented in the municipal auditorium Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, March 21, 22 and 24. The cast has been increased from 75 to 95 and the ballets have been increased to 45.

Though the announcement of the opera comes today, the production has been in rehearsal for two weeks, Mrs. Sweney said. "Martha" is one of the most popular operas and in practically every season it is presented to the public, she said.

The cast is working under the direction of Mrs. Beatrice L. Thurston, general director; Thure Fredrickson, conductor of the opera and the orchestra; Marie Rothfuss, director of ballet; Victor Hubal, scenery; Ralph Swolley, lighting; Hyman Weinstein, music; Lillian Nelson, chorus; Mrs. Martin Giesen, costumes, and W. H. Hadlich, business manager.

The opera in production affords employment to more than 75 persons, including the stage hands, musicians, engineers, etc.

Pardon Board Frees 2 More

Terms Of Kalscheuer. Two Others Reduced.

The state pardon board today ordered release of two prisoners and reduced the sentences of three others.

Wednesday the board granted clemency to 42 persons. The board was at Stillwater prison today, visiting with the warden and interviewing prisoners. Further action is expected Friday.

Released forthwith were Peter Ehlers, sentenced May 7, 1931, from Ramsey county, to St. Cloud reformatory to serve up to five years on a third degree burglary charge, and Venus Paul, sentenced to the reformatory from Ramsey county Nov. 19, 1931, to serve up to five years for deserting a minor child.

Principal among those whose sentences were reduced was Charles F. Kalscheuer, St. Paul, sentenced Feb. 2, 1932 to Stillwater prison for from one to 10 years for grand larceny in the first degree. Kalscheuer, a bank employe, misappropriated $44,000 but claims to have made full restitution. His sentence was reduced to two and a half years.

It was asserted today the board has granted a parole to Frank Sadler, 55, sentenced to Stillwater prison for life from St. Louis county March 6, 1910 for first degree murder. He is expected to be released in a few weeks.

Sept. Hitler's... that would bind France and Germany not to attack each other for 10 years.

War pictures, recently printed in Sunday newspapers, with comments by Floyd Gibbons, ought to make France and Germany decide NEVER to attack each other. In that last big murder festival, nobody won.

Everybody lost money, and life, progress and the result of years of civilized effort, were wiped out.

When we read that Americans, flying over Japanese territory, are arrested and imprisoned, accused of spying on Japanese fortifications, that seems to us amusing. Now five Japanese, all employees of the Japanese government, are arrested in New Jersey, each carrying a camera. They took photographs of the high-speed viaduct that connects New York through the Holland tunnel with the Newark airport. That does not seem amusing.

The Japanese say they were simply making photographs to show their friends, nothing that should be taken seriously. Since the great war the spy mania has been everywhere.

Apparel Firms Of Twin Cities Set Style Show

Plans for the semi-annual style show of the Twin Cities Apparel Industries has been completed, it was announced today by C. J. Richter, St. Paul, chairman of the arrangements committee.

The style show will be held at Vanity Fair, University and Lexington aves., the evening of Feb. 12, and will be the first feature in the program for the 24th semi-annual Twin City Market week, Feb. 12 to 17.

Assisting Mr. Richter on the arrangement committee are A. C. Gaudian, Ben Shank, E. S. Rose, W. A. Montgomery, Harold Gordon and H. S. McIntyre.

The show will feature spring fashions for women offered by Twin City wholesalers and manufacturers.

"We feel confident that this year's style show will be the finest we have ever staged and that it will be helpful to merchants and their buyers in ascertaining what is new in the fashion world," Mr. Richter said.

Six St. Paul Mobsters

St. F was first thrown at the mercy of kidnapers in 1931 when Leon Gleckman was snatched as he was leaving his home, 2168 Sargent ave., to play a round of golf over the Keller course.

This opened a series of six St. Paul kidnappings.

After eight days of captivity Gleckman was released on a reported ransom of $6,400 of the $100,000 demanded.

A. A. Robbins, "finger man," Sam Cimlin, Albert Tallarico, Joe Jurley and Anthony Scandale are now serving state prison sentences for the crime.

Frank LaPre Murdered.

Frank LaPre, proprietor of the Evans hotel, 48½ W. 10th st., was found murdered a day after the return of Gleckman to his home. He was alleged to have been the ring leader. The murder was attributed to other members of the gang who felt they had been "crossed" on the loot.

St. Paul's second snatching victim was Morris Rutman, kidnaped from his home at 1079 Dayton ave., on the night of Oct. 5. Rutman was called to the door by a stranger who rang the bell and at the point of a revolver was forced into a waiting automobile. Sam Berg and Jack Ferrick were charged with the snatching.

Verne Sankey, the much wanted fugitive from justice, stepped into St. Paul's limelight with the kidnaping of Haskell Bohn, 20-year-old son of Gebhard C. Bohn.

Young Bohn was abducted by gunmen who invaded St. Paul's "gold coast," Summit ave., on the morning of June 30, 1932. He was held for $35,000 ransom but negotiations were completed a few days later for his release at a reported paid ransom of $12,500.

Ray Robinson, Canadian, is now serving a term in prison. After the St. Paul job Sankey moved on to Denver, where he was the leader in the snatching of Charles Boettcher. Mrs. Fern Sankey was later brought to St. Paul and tried in connection with the case but was acquitted.

Abduct Gleckman's Daughter.

It was on July 3, 1932 that the abduction of Florence Gleckman, 18, daughter of Gleckman, was disclosed in The Daily News. Although Gleckman denied the kidnaping, The Daily News had reliable information that Miss Gleckman was abducted from the University of Minnesota campus, where she was a student, her eyes, mouth and hands taped. She was held at an unidentified place and released the following day for an unnamed amount of ransom.

Then came St. Paul's major snatching, which brought the United States government into the case. It was the kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer as he was on his way home to lunch from the brewery plant bearing his name. The kidnaping took place at noon, June 15, 1933. Four days later Mr. Hamm was released for a ransom of $100,000.

The Lindbergh law had been passed at Washington, covering interstate transportation of a kidnap victim.

A minor traffic accident in Elmhurst, Wis., July 15, led to arrest of the Roger Touhy mob. A rookie policeman, unarmed, stood Touhy, Willie Sharkey, Gustave (Gloomy Gus) Schaeffer and Eddie (Father Tom) McFadden.

Aug. 19 the four were brought to St. Paul under heavy guard to answer to the charges of having kidnaped Mr. Hamm.

Fresh from his victorious campaigns in Oklahoma City and Kansas City against kidnapers, Joseph B. Keenan, prosecuting attorney in the federal government's fight against kidnaping, came to St. Paul to prosecute the four mobsters.

"Not Guilty."

A jury of nine farmers, two women and an accountant was selected to try the gangsters and after listening to 21 days of testimony returned a verdict of "not guilty."

Two days later Willie Sharkey, one of the defendants, who during the trial had on two different occasions caused a stir of excitement by getting up and appearing to be making a dash for liberty, committed suicide in his cell in Ramsey county jail by hanging himself.

The remaining three Touhy mobsters along with Albert (Polynose) Kator were removed under heavy guard to Chicago where they are now being tried on a charge of having snatched (Jake the Barber) Factor. It is a state offense, the victim not having been transported across the state line, and therefore the government is now only lending its moral support to the state of Illinois. If convicted the men face a death sentence.

"Snatch" Bremer As Police Form Anti-Kidnap Squad

CHARLES J. TIERNEY.

Little more than a month after St. Paul's police department had organized one of the first anti-kidnaping squads in the nation, Edward G. Bremer, president of the Commercial State bank, son of Adolph Bremer, head of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing Co., and nephew of Otto Bremer, chairman of the board of the American National bank, was being held for $200,000 ransom.

Election of Florence Moore, Mil-laca, as secretary of the County Auditors' association for 1934 marks the first time since its inception that the organization has elected a woman to office.

Other officers named at the close of the annual convention in Minneapolis late Wednesday are: G. G. Busche of Faribault county, president; Harry L. Fowler, Bennington county, vice president; and G. G. Billstrom, Kanabec county, re-elected treasurer. Mr. Busche succeeds A. W. Lueche of Rice county.

Speakers Wednesday included N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner; Harry H. Peterson, attorney general, and Erling Swenson, state game and fish commissioner.

TRANSPORTATION CLUB GIVES BANQUET TODAY

C. E. Ryberg will be installed as president of St. Paul Transportation club at its 12th annual dinner in the palm room of Hotel St. Paul at 6:30 p. m. today.

William Mansfield is retiring president.

Phil S. Hanna, editor, Chicago Journal of Commerce, will give the main address before the 500 expected members and leading business men from the northwest, according to Howard H. Ellsworth, general chairman.

Train Victim Unidentified.

Still unidentified today at the county morgue was the body of a man killed by a train on the Great Northern tracks near the N. Lexington ave. bridge Tuesday.

THOMAS A. BROWN.

Mr. Bremer was abducted at about 9 a. m. Wednesday, it was disclosed today.

It was on Jan. 10 that Inspector Tierney, shown above, announced organization of the squad. Affiliate with Inspector Tierney is Detective Thomas A. Brown, also shown above.

City Authorizes Sale of $600,000 In Welfare Bonds.

With the board of public welfare reported to have only enough funds to continue family welfare work 15 day more, the city council today authorized sale of $600,000 of welfare bonds.

Mayor Mahoney pointed out that while the estimated needs of the welfare board for the first six months of the year are $1,800,000, city and county budget appropriations for the work were far under this sum.

The bonds will mature during the next 10 years, and carry interest at not more than 6 per cent. A resolution calling for bids will be passed later.

CHOIR CONTEST TICKET
PRICES WILL DOUBLE

Those persons who wait until Friday night to purchase their tickets to the church choir contest at the Auditorium will be forced to pay double that of the advance sale price, it was announced today.

Tickets may be obtained through the nine choirs entered in the finals or at Field-Schlick, Inc. The choirs entered are: First Swedish and Pilgrim Baptist churches; Church of the Reformation and Trinity Lutheran churches; St. James and St. Pauls Methodist churches; Arlington Hills and Dayton Avenue Presbyterian churches and St. Matthews Episcopal church.

KARPIS CAPTURE IS GOOD NEWS TO MANY TOPEKANS

Minds Uneasy Since Experience of Bank Official and Family.

From the Journal-Post Topeka Bureau.
TOPEKA, May 2—Word of the capture of Alvin Karpis in New Orleans brought ease of mind to several Topekans Saturday.

Since the February night in 1934 when Don Hassebrook, of the National Bank of Topeka, and his family were terrorized in their home by kidnapers supposed to have been headed by Karpis, Topekans have been uneasy because of a fear that the "Public Enemy No. 1," who was the former marble champion of Topeka in his boyhood days, would either come back here for one of his major crimes or might shoot it out with the G-men.

Karpis, who began his career of crime here by getting into trouble through stealing a bicycle and later by stealing tires, was reported to have made frequent visits back to this city during the last two years in order to hide out.

For several months the home of Karpis' sister, Mrs. Albert E. Grooms, in North Topeka, was under constant watch by officers as was the home of a woman who formerly was a friend of his. But after his capture his sister's husband said he had not been seen by the family for several years.

Glad Hunt is Over.

Mrs. Grooms could not be reached but her husband quoted her as saying she was glad the hunt for her brother was over and that he had been captured without a fight.

Teachers at the Branner school from which Karpis was graduated in 1923 remember him as just an ordinary pupil. The only distinction he had was that he was the marble shooting champion of the school.

A burglary charge filed against him in Jackson county (Kas.) in 1926 is said to have started him on his career as a major criminal. He was sent to the state reformatory at Hutchinson for the crime.

Prior to the reformatory "rap" Karpis never had been in trouble. Records here show that his father, J. Karpis, lives in Chicago, where he is a respected citizen. In the space of 10 years Karpis developed from an obscure lad, who made one misstep, into the nation's most hunted criminal.

Environment Blamed.

E. W. Ford, for 30 years Bertillon expert at the Kansas state reformatory at Hutchinson, blames environment for Karpis' career of crime.

Karpis was received at the reformatory February 25, 1926, from Jackson county, Kas. The crime was second degree burglary and he was given a 10-year sentence. At that time he was only 16 years old and records show he was born August 10, 1909, in Canada.

Less than two months later another youth, Larry O'Keefe, arrived at the reformatory and it was Karpis' association with O'Keefe, in Ford's opinion, which started him on the path of crime. For three years the two were pals in the reformatory. Seldom was one seen without the other, and they spent all leisure time together.

Then one night—March 9, 1929—Karpis and O'Keefe sawed bars from a cellhouse window and escaped by dropping over the wall surrounding the reformatory. Captured a year later in Chicago, Karpis was transferred to Lansing as punishment for his escape at Hutchinson.

O'Keefe Vicious Type.

O'Keefe is described by Ford as a vicious type. After his escape from Hutchinson he fled to his na-

Prospective Groom Seeks Handcuffs to Save His Bride From 'Kidnapers'

Young Man Tries to Borrow Pair From Police After He Gets Tip on Plot by His Friends.

Arthur Eldred, 21 years old, and a young woman he plans to wed Saturday night may be kidnaped by certain conspiring friends, but the bride and groom will not be separated, if Eldred succeeds in carrying out his plan of handcuffing himself and his bride together.

Eldred, who said he lives at 3824 Park avenue and is employed by the Schulze Baking company, appeared at the Flora Avenue police station Saturday morning and approached Sgt. Fred J. Tittus.

"I would like to borrow a pair of handcuffs," the young man politely informed Tittus.

Tittus' eyes and mouth opened widely.

"Why do you want to borrow handcuffs?" the sergeant inquired.

"It's this way," Eldred explained. "I am to be married tonight. This morning I had a tip that some friends of mine plan to kidnap me and my bride immediately after the ceremony and keep us separated until tomorrow. I want to handcuff my bride to me as soon as the minister finishes tying the knot."

"I'm sorry, young men," he said, "but we are out of extra handcuffs." The prospective bridegroom said he would look elsewhere for handcuffs.

MAHAN BECOMES NATION'S NO. 1 PUBLIC ENEMY

Bartholmey, John Piefer and Charles J. Fitzgerald.

Working for Months.

Agents under direction of J. Edgar Hoover have been working for months on apprehension of Robinson and Mahan. Both frequently have been reported seen, but have eluded capture. Mahan is believed to have a gang, but Robinson is regarded as a "lone wolf."

Of nearly 50 kidnappings these two are the only ones remaining unsolved since the department of justice began its nationwide drive against the racket three years ago. More than 100 persons have been arrested and most of them convicted.

Department records and unofficial reports reveal kidnapers collected more than a million dollars in ransoms resulting from a series of kidnappings since 1933, when the racket was at its height. Most of that has been recovered.

Campbell is the only man with a department of justice price on his head now. He is a Middle Western gunman and bank robber who shot his way out of an Atlantic City hotel a year ago with Karpis.

His Wife Absolved.

Robinson's wife was arrested as his accomplice in the kidnaping of Mrs. Stoll, for whose release $50,000 was paid, but was absolved. He escaped with the money. Agents said he is an expert impersonator of a woman and may be masquerading as such.

Under Hoover's direction the department of justice in three years has become the most feared of law enforcement agencies. Its lore rivals that of Scotland Yard. The force has grown from fewer than 20 men to more than 300.

Kidnapings since 1933, when federal agents began a nationwide effort to stamp out the racket, have steadily decreased. In that year 10 major kidnappings, in which $750,000 was extorted, caused national alarm.

Many Into Hiding.

In addition, the agents engaged in an 18 months' nationwide search, resulting in the slaying of Dillinger after his betrayal by the "woman in red." Agents said Dillinger was shot when he sought to draw a gun.

Walter H. Miller, county assessor, became No. 2 man of the Fifteenth street Democratic political organization Saturday when he was selected by Justice Gil P. Bourk to handle the organization's affairs in the latter's absence.

GIL BOURK NAMES WALTER H. MILLER AS HIS NO. 1 AIDE

County Assessor to Help Handle Affairs of Democratic Group.

Walter H. Miller, county assessor, Saturday was named by Justice Gil P. Bourk as his first assistant in handling the affairs of the Fifteenth street Democratic political organization.

"It's too much work for one man," Bourk said in announcing the selection of his first lieutenant. "By naming Miller, I'm following a custom that was inaugurated by the late Justice Casimir J. Welch."

Miller will be in charge of the Bourk headquarters Monday and Friday of each week, Bourk said. His office will be the one used by Bourk.

Selection of an aide, Bourk said, will give him an opportunity to take care of business outside the courtroom and the rooms of the Jefferson Democratic club, the Fifteenth street organization's principal meeting place.

Miller also will be in charge of the organization's affairs when

O'Keefe Vicious Type.

O'Keefe is described by Ford as a vicious type. After his escape from Hutchinson he fled to his native state, Michigan, where he was apprehended and also transferred to the Lansing, Kas., penitentiary. However, en route to Lansing O'Keefe made a desperate bid for freedom when he leaped from a motor car and was captured only after a guard's bullet pierced the cap he was wearing.

After his release from Lansing O'Keefe, according to officers, went back to Michigan and identified himself with a desperate band of bank robbers which terrorized the entire Northwest. He was known as the machine gunner of the gang and had several killings to his credit, according to records, before he was captured. O'Keefe now is serving a life sentence for murder in the Minnesota state prison.

"With such a vicious type of youth as his constant companion it isn't difficult to understand how Karpis became a desperado," said the reformatory expert. "When he was in the Kansas reformatory Karpis did not appear to be a bad sort and outside of the one escape he was a normal prisoner."

Karpis has another sister, Mrs. P. T. Neubold, who lives in Chicago.

SCHOOL HEAD TO SPEAK

Baptist Seminary Baccalaureate Is Sunday.

Dr. A. R. Martin, president of Ottawa university, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of the Kansas City Baptist Theological seminary at the annual program at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the seminary, Thirteenth street and Barnett avenue, Kansas City, Kas.

The seminary choir will present the musical program, with the choir of all the churches of the city invited to assist in singing the old time hymns of the church.

The school faculty will give a reception after the program. Ministers and members of the churches of the city and vicinity are invited to the program and reception.

In addition, the agents engaged in an 18 months' nationwide search, resulting in the slaying of Dillinger after his betrayal by the "woman in red." Agents said Dillinger was shot when he sought to draw a gun.

The relentless hunting of notorious interstate criminals went on. Most of them deserted their gangs and went into hiding. One by one the agents ferreted them out and either killed or captured them.

"Doc" Barker was arrested and sent to Alcatraz prison. "Ma" Barker and her other infamous son, Fred, were surrounded and shot to death in a Florida hideout.

Harvey Bailey, notorious Southwestern gangster, was captured. Soon afterward Machine Gun Kelly, known as "Kill crazy," was taken and George (Baby Face) Nelson was shot to death and his body found on a roadside near Chicago.

One at a time the "public enemies" have been eliminated until most of the desperadoes who terrorized the country a few years ago are either dead or behind prison bars. Those remaining are described by federal agents as "not of the dangerous type."

By United Press.

ST. PAUL, May 2.—Shackled hand and foot, Alvin Karpis, public enemy No. 1, was flown to St. Paul in an air liner chartered by G-men Saturday.

The stammering, pasty-faced gunman, captured at New Orleans Friday night without a shot being fired, probably will be tried for kidnaping William Hamm, jr., wealthy brewer.

Long delayed, the big airplane slid into the airport at 8:45 a. m., and roared directly into the hangar of the 109th United States air squadron.

The doors slammed shut and newsmen as well as spectators were barred.

A dozen G-men from the St. Paul headquarters were waiting to help shift Karpis to a waiting automobile. Ten federal men, commanded by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, who made the arrest, were aboard the plane.

Comments on Capture.

Commenting on the capture, Hoover said:

"Karpis was arrested at 3343 Canal street, New Orleans, where he was living with Fred Hunter and a woman posing as Mrs. Hunter.

"Hunter also was taken into custody and is being held at New Orleans. We have not decided whether he will be charged in connection with a postal robbery at Garrettsville, O., last year, or as a harbinger of Karpis. Karpis was living at his apartment."

Hoover said Karpis had been in the South and Southwest for several months. "He was spending most of his time hunting and fishing," Hoover said. "He was fishing a great deal in Florida and along the gulf."

Karpis had undergone a crude plastic surgery operation, Hoover disclosed. There was a deep scar under his left ear and lobes of his ears had been cut. His fingerprint had been mutilated.

Calls It Crude Job.

"The operation," Hoover said, "was performed by Dr. Joseph Moran, former member of the gang now believed dead. But it was a crude job and did not in the least alter Karpis' features."

When arrested Hoover said Karpis had a rifle in his automobile and three .45 caliber revolvers in his apartment. Neither he nor Hunter had a weapon on their person.

The chaotic conditions in Addis Ababa were described in a new report from Sir Sidney to the British foreign office Saturday night.

Some reports said the emperor was fleeing into exile, to Palestine. Other sources said he might leave the train at some internal point and seek to rally his men.

In the fortified British legation compound, prepared as a defense garrison last summer against such an eventuality, five machine guns and many rifles were ready to hold off any attackers. Food and water were available in ample supply for the besieged group.

Sir Sidney's messages early Saturday and again at night were the only word received from Addis Ababa. The Ethiopian government wireless station has been silenced. No contact with it had been reported since early in the day when it suddenly ceased sending without explanation.

British Might Hold Him.

The emperor's flight brought a response from authoritative sources here to the effect that if Haile Selassie enters British territory, he would be treated as a prisoner of war in his capacity as commander-in-chief of the Ethiopian army, but with all the deference due his imperial rank.

The legal position held by the British government is that Haile Selassie remains emperor in law until he abdicates, although it recognizes that he is no longer emperor in fact when he leaves Ethiopian soil.

British authorities reportedly are well aware of the emperor's ultimate destination, but are pledged to secrecy. Sir Sidney is understood to have advised the foreign office regarding the emperor's plans, but requested they not be divulged. Officials here declined to confirm or deny the emperor would proceed from Djibouti to either Palestine, as reported from Paris, or to British Somaliland or that he intends to board a British ship.

The foreign office, through the newspapers, reassured the public that the utmost precautions had been taken to safeguard the total of an estimated 3,000 foreigners, of whom 1,000 are British subjects, in

PERSHING GREETED AS PLAIN JOHN BY BOYHOOD FRIENDS

General Visits Laclede Where He Will Lay Cornerstone.

By United Press.

LACLEDE, MO., May 2.—Old timers of Linn county Saturday crowded around a stalwart, gray-haired man of 75, clasped him familiarly on the back and said, "Hello, John."

"John" was Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the American army in France during the World war. He was back in Laclede, his home town, to preside at the cornerstone laying for the town's new $50,000 schoolhouse. It was his first visit home since 1928.

General Pershing spent the night at Brookfield in the hotel run by his old school mate, John Crowder. Crowder and several others were waiting when General Pershing arrived by automobile with his sister.

NEW ORLEANS, May 2.—Mrs. John Meyer, who rented Alvin Karpis an apartment April 10, and Clarence (Duke) Pucheu, the salesman who sold him an automobile, are related by marriage, the United Press learned Saturday in seeking the means whereby federal agents located Karpis' hideout here Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Meyer's daughter is Pucheu's wife. Both she and her son-in-law denied they had told department of justice agents where they could find the nation's most wanted man.

A week ago, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the department of justice's bureau of investigation, renewed the department's reward of $5,000 for Karpis' capture and promised

Karpis' Capture Transfers Crown of No. 1 Public Enemy to Mahan

He Is Sought for Abduction of Young George Weyerhaeuser in Tacoma, May 24, 1935.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Upon the head of William Mahan, west coast kidnaper, the department of justice Saturday placed the dubious crown of "the nation's Public Enemy No. 1."

Mahan is sought for the kidnaping of young George Weyerhaeuser, for whose abduction at Tacoma, Wash., May 24, 1935, a $200,000 ransom was collected. He is accused of being the leader of the kidnap gang.

Capture of Alvin Karpis in New Orleans left but two other major kidnapings unsolved. The other was the abduction of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll of Louisville, Ky., in 1933, for which Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., is sought.

Robinson was placed second on the "public enemy" list by T. D. Quinn, assistant director of the federal bureau of investigation. He awarded third place to Harry Campbell, Middle West Karpis satellite for whom a reward of $2,500 is offered.

Hunted Since 1935.

Since the slaying of John Dillinger in Chicago nearly two years ago, the famed G-men of the department of justice have been thinning the ranks of interstate criminals rapidly. Karpis had been hunted relentlessly since the kidnaping in June, 1933, of William J. Hamm, Jr., scion of a St. Paul, Minn., brewing family.

Karpis was the last of the Karpis-Barker Middle West kidnaping gang to be accounted for. Three—Fred Barker, "Ma" Barker and Fred Goetz—were slain. "Doc" Barker, Byron Bolton and Elmer Farmer are serving prison sentences.

Federal agents said the arrest of Karpis, in addition to three men apprehended two weeks ago, completed their roundup of those wanted for the Hamm kidnaping. The three arrested were Edward ured, probably will be tried for kidnaping William Hamm, Jr., wealthy brewer.

Long delayed, the big airplane slid into the airport at 8:45 a. m., and roared directly into the hangar of the 109th United States air squadron.

The doors slammed shut and newsmen as well as spectators were barred.

A dozen G-men from the St. Paul headquarters were waiting to help shift Karpis to a waiting automobile. Ten federal men commanded by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, who made the arrest, were aboard the plane.

Comments on Capture.

Commenting on the capture, Hoover said:

"Karpis was arrested at 3343 Canal street, New Orleans, where he was living with Fred Hunter and a woman posing as Mrs. Hunter."

"Hunter also was taken into custody and is being held at New Orleans. We have not decided whether he will be charged in connection with a postal robbery at Garrettsville, O., last year, or as a harbinger of Karpis. Karpis was living at his apartment."

Hoover said Karpis had been in the South and Southwest for several months. "He was spending most of his time hunting and fishing," Hoover said. "He was fishing a great deal in Florida and along the gulf."

Karpis had undergone a crude plastic surgery operation, Hoover disclosed. There was a deep scar under his left ear and lobes of his ears had been cut. His fingerprints had been mutilated.

Calls It Crude Job.

"The operation," Hoover said, "was performed by Dr. Joseph Moran, former member of the gang now believed dead. But it was a crude job and did not in the least alter Karpis' features."

When arrested Hoover said Karpis had a rifle in his automobile and three .45 caliber revolvers in his apartment. Neither he nor Hunter had a weapon on their person.

The capture was made as Karpis and Hunter came out of their first floor apartment, Hoover said. They left unexpectedly while agents were waiting for them after surrounding the house. They entered a car and were driving away when a car in which Hoover and others were riding drew alongside, forced Karpis' car to the curb and commanded him to halt.

"He offered no resistance whatsoever," Hoover said. "He was so

COLUMBIA, MO., May 2.—(UP)—Five persons injured Friday night in an automobile crash near here in which a man and woman were injured fatally, remained in a serious condition, hospital attaches reported Saturday.

Mrs. Grace Taylor, 26 years old of Council Grove, Kas., was killed almost instantly in the collision between a car driven by E. Lee Harinsh, 38, of Raton, N. M., and one by Robert Granert, 24, Cole City, Ill.

Granert's father, R. M. Granert, 50, died shortly after reaching a Columbia hospital. His mother was injured critically and showed no improvement during the night.

L. D. Keeter, 38, also of Raton, was not badly injured, but Miss Thelma Deal, 25, from the same city, suffered numerous cuts and a broken ankle.

The collision, according to highway patrol reports, was the result of the car driven by Harinsh moving over onto the wrong side of the road. Granert, coming from the opposite direction, was unable to avoid a collision.

There were no road hazards or obstructions where the wreck took place, the report stated.

nervous he could scarcely talk. His hands were shaking like a leaf and his knees shook as badly as if he had palsy."

Hoover emphasized that "this was the man who said he never would be taken alive."

Inasmuch as the capture was made by federal agents, the $5,000 recently offered for Karpis' arrest will not be paid.

Hoover said the department had "definite information" for several days prior to the capture that Karpis was in New Orleans. He himself had been there "two or three days," he said.

Taken to Headquarters.

Barely 16 hours after the capture in New Orleans, Karpis was returned to the city where allegedly he engineered two of the nation's most sensational kidnappings, those of Hamm and Edward G. Bremer.

Ten minutes after the air liner slid into the army hangar, Karpis was at department of justice headquarters.

He will be locked in the "escape-proof" cell at county jail once occupied by "Doc" Barker, Tommy Touhy, Volney Davis, Willie Davis, and others of the Barker-Karpis gang.

Karpis is the last of the Barker-Karpis mob, although his recent associate, Harry Campbell, still is at large.

Karpis was wearing the same clothes he had on when agents seized him.

Both Hands Manacled.

A dozen local department operatives, carrying submachine guns and sawed-off shotguns, formed a cordon around the plane door as Karpis was led out. Both hands were tightly manacled. He appeared to be extremely nervous.

His return to St. Paul was in contrast to the last time he was here—two years ago. Then the Barker-Karpis gang was in its hey-day.

Saturday Karpis, the most hunted fugitive since the days of John Dillinger, was the central figure in the last chapter of the melodramatic saga of the mad band of machine gun killers.

Karpis was loaded into one of five automobiles provided by local agents. He was placed in the back seat between two heavily armed operatives. With two cars proceeding and two following, the cavalcade dashed to the federal department of justice offices.

Hoover directed Karpis' removal from the plane.

E. J. Connelly, head of the department's "kidnap squad," also was on the plane. He came from Cincinnati.

The ship was scheduled to have arrived here early Saturday morning, but it was delayed five hours by strong headwinds north of St. Louis.

At the department offices, Karpis was to be subjected to immediate questioning concerning the $200,000 Bremer abduction and the $100,000 Hamm kidnapping.

Federal agents, as usual, kept secret the course of the information that led to Karpis' arrest, but it was said authoritatively that a gossip automobile salesman, Clarence Pucheu, known to his clients and friends as "Duke" had set afloat rumors that reached the G-men.

Soon after Karpis arrived in New Orleans, he went to the automobile agency where Pucheu is employed. Pucheu met him at the door.

He Pays Cash for Car.

"Let's don't talk here," said Karpis, casting an apprehensive glance at the big plate glass windows looking into the street.

Pucheu took his strange customer to a back room, where Karpis asked the price of a Plymouth sedan.

"I'll buy it," Karpis, "I'll buy it," he said.

Kansas City police on March 24, 1930, arrested Larry O'Keefe (left) and Alvin Karpis (right) in a motor car in which they found the pistols and the burglar tools shown here. The Oklahoma license plate was taken from the car in which they were riding at the time. Karpis was returned to the Hutchinson, Kas., reformatory from which he had escaped. house, lady," he said, "or you're likely to get hurt."

New Orleans police knew nothing of the trap. Excited neighbors telephoned them when it was sprung. They were indignant that the federal men had invaded their bailiwick without even a "by-your-leave."

Calls for Reporters.

An hour after Karpis was taken to the department of justice's New Orleans headquarters, newspapers received a telephone call. A voice wanted them to send reporters over for "an announcement." The reporters found Hoover, whom no one had known was in town, sitting at the desk of Chief New Orleans Agent McGee.

Smiling slightly, Hoover said:

"Gentlemen, I would like to announce for the government that Alvin Karpis, your so-called public enemy No. 1, has been arrested by agents of the department of justice investigation department in an apartment on the first floor of a house at 3343 Canal street, this city."

"Of course," he added, "he's never been our public enemy No. 1."

He then handed each reporter a mimeographed sheet containing Karpis' complete criminal history.

He was subjected to close questioning, but most of his answers were evasive. He said the federal agents had known "for two months" that Karpis had been "in and out of New Orleans." Hunter, he said, while not as well known as Karpis, was a desperate criminal and had participated, with Karpis, in the Garrettsville, O., mail robbery.

Not No. 1 Enemy.

While Hoover said Karpis had not been his department's "public enemy No. 1," he had, nevertheless, were acting under government orders to keep the plane's movements secret.

Police here were informed that Karpis was in Kansas City April 16, apparently on his way South. He also was reported to have visited Kansas City several times this spring, once for the purpose of holding up a gambling game in Kansas City.

Karpis and two men, according to the information, surveyed the gambling house and the surroundings. They abandoned their plan, however, when they discovered the game was well guarded.

Pucheu took his strange customer to a back room, where Karpis asked the price of a Plymouth sedan. Pucheu told him.

All right," said Karpis, "I'll buy one."

He began peeling $100 bills from a large roll.

Pucheu thought that strange. A few days later, his customer had the car serviced for "a trip." Less than a week later, Karpis returned the car for another servicing. Pucheu glanced at the speedometer and saw that Karpis had driven almost 2,000 miles.

"My," he said, "but you're a fast worker."

"I'm the fastest worker in the United States," said Karpis.

Pucheu thought that even more strange. He talked about his customer to his wife. She suggested that maybe he was a gangster. They talked about the better known gangsters, and one or the other suggested that maybe he was Karpis.

Talked to Friends.

They talked about it with their friends and relatives. One night, while out driving, they saw the Plymouth parked in front of the Canal street apartment house, and they told their friends the man they believed was Karpis was living on Canal street.

"Why don't you tip off the G-men and get that reward, Duke?" said Mrs. Pucheu.

"I think I will."

But Pucheu procrastinated. Meanwhile his gossip had resulted in rumors that spread all over New Orleans. As early as Monday, persons, strangers to the Pucheus and their circle of friends, had heard that Karpis was in the city.

Thursday the report reached the G-men. Late Friday afternoon Karpis was taken into custody.

Saw Man With Gun.

So fast and secretly did the G-men work that many of Karpis' neighbors in his apartment house hideout knew nothing about it until hours later. A half hour before the capture a woman living on the ground floor looked out her window and saw a federal agent standing behind a tree, a submachine gun in the crook of his arm.

"Who are you?" she asked, leaning out the window.

"Stick your head back in the house, lady," he said, "or you're likely to get hurt."

New Orleans police knew nothing of the trap. Excited neighbors telephoned them when it was sprung. They were indignant that the federal men had invaded their bailiwick without even a "by-your-leave."

Not No. 1 Enemy.

While Hoover said Karpis had not been his department's "public enemy No. 1," he had, nevertheless, been sought with every energy the department could bring to bear for two years.

The department had offered $5,000 reward for information leading to his capture, the highest of its two outstanding reward offers. The post office department had offered $2,000. Harry Campbell, Karpis' companion in many crimes and in the Atlantic City coup when they shot themselves out of a trap, had a reward of $2,500 on his head.

Two other men are wanted badly by the department of justice—the last survivors of what once was a sizeable list of big time criminals. They are Thomas H. Robinson, jr., kidnaper of Alice Speed Stoll, and William Mahan, kidnaper of young George Weyerhaeuser. But there is no reward out for either.

Karpis began his career as a petty thief, and was initiated into the big time criminal world in 1931, after his escape from the Kansas state penitentiary at Lansing, by the Barkers, Arthur and Fred. He soon became joint leader of the mob and with it is alleged to have participated in the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, a wealthy St. Paul banker, and Hamm.

Plane Bearing Karpis Held Here Three Hours En Route to St. Paul

The Douglas transport plane bearing Alvin Karpis and his G-men captors took off here at 5:30 a. m. Saturday for St. Paul after a 3-hour stop at the Kansas City airport.

The plane was forced down here by fog after it had left St. Louis.

Hoover and the other government agents ate in the airport lunchroom, but Karpis was forced to remain in the plane. Two Kansas City agents were at the airport to meet the plane.

While the plane was at the airport TWA employees repeatedly denied any knowledge of its whereabouts. The dispatcher said they

Family of Karpis Won't Be Interviewed

CHICAGO, May 2—(UP)—The unassuming parents who disowned Alvin Karpis when he turned to life of crime shut their doors against questioners Saturday.

Reporters flocked to the home of John Karpavicz, apartment janitor soon after they learned his son who had changed his name to Karpis had been arrested.

"Go away," Karpavicz shouted through shuttered windows. "I don't want to talk to you."

Before window blinds were pulled down, gray-haired Mrs. Karpavicz could be seen sitting in the kitchen with her grandson, Raymond. The boy, 14 months old, is the son of Margaret Delaney, who was captured in Karpis' Atlantic City, N. J., hangout January 20, 1935. The boy was left with his grandparents when his mother was imprisoned for harboring Karpis.

Karpis' sister, Emily Newbold, bowed her way through reporter into the Karpavicz home, but refused to comment on the arrest. She lived in the rear of the Karpavicz home.

They returned to the hotel and Miller went to the room occupied by the women. He pulled papers from his pocket. "Now," if you'll just sign here—" he began, when Mrs. Wright interrupted.

"Whew!" she said. "I'm tired and thirsty. If you'll wait just a moment, I'll get some beer."

She produced three bottles of beer and glasses. She took one, her "niece" took one and they gave the other to Miller. The salesman poured out a glass of the beverage. He drank some of it. That was at 8 p. m. Friday.

At 3:15 a. m. Saturday he awakened. He still was in the room, but the women were gone. So was Miller's watch, money and pen and pencil. A ring on one of his fingers had been turned so the set was toward the palm. The women apparently had tried to take it from his finger but failed.

Points to Luggage.

Miller found his way to the hotel desk. He asked when Mrs. Wright and her niece checked out. The clerk consulted his register. "Why, they haven't checked out," he said. "They're still in their room."

"That's what you think," Miller told him. The clerk went with him to the room. "See," the clerk said, pointing to a suitcase, "there's their baggage."

Miller told of his experience. The clerk opened the suitcase. There was nothing in it except the three magazines.

The keys to the Chrysler were in Miller's pocket. The Chrysler still was in front of the hotel where he had parked it.

strict anonymity to tipsters. Hoover and his subordinates had not one word to say as to the source of their information.

Mrs. Meyers said Saturday she could hardly believe her tenant was the notorious criminal. Pucheu said he was not in the least surprised; that, in fact, he had suspected his true identity right along, had intended telling the department of justice about his suspicions, but had procrastinated.

"I used to be a government man myself," he said.

Mrs. Meyer rents "light house-keeping" flats in the 3000 block of Canal street, a middle class and respectable district. April 10 a young man accompanied by a young woman who he said was his wife rented one of her apartments.

"He was such a nice boy," Mrs. Meyer said. "So kind. So polite. I can't believe it."

The young man, who said he was a Mr. O'Hara told her he wanted to buy an automobile. Mrs. Meyer said her son-in-law was an automobile salesman and he went to Pucheu.

Known as "The Duke"

Pucheu, known as "The Duke" for his elegant dress and manners, and loquacious, thought his customer strange from the minute he saw him, he said. O'Hara (Karpis) disliked standing in front of windows while talking, paid for his car in $100 bills and took long, mysterious trips that the speedometer of his car indicated had been made at breakneck speed.

"My wife and I talked it over," Pucheu said. "We decided he was a gangster, all right."

Mrs. Meyer, meanwhile, was finding her tenant very well mannered. There was a cupboard in her apartment for which she had lost the key and Karpis was delighted to do her the service of prying it open. Thursday morning, Karpis again exhibited his courtesy.

Mrs. Meyer knocked on the door of his apartment, said she wanted to sell the dining room set that was a part of the furnishings, and would he mind if two prospective purchasers came in to look at it.

Two women entered, following Mrs. Meyer. In going to the dining room, they had adequate opportunity to inspect the entire apartment, the arrangement of rooms, of furniture, the nature of the personal possessions of the tenants.

The women looked at the dining room set, said they were afraid it wouldn't do, but would think it over, and left.

Soon thereafter, Hoover chartered a plane in New York and flew to New Orleans by way of Washington. Friday afternoon he and his agents captured Karpis.

In addition to the $5,000 reward from the department of justice, the post office department has a $2,000 reward outstanding for Karpis for his alleged participation in a mail robbery at Garrettsville, O. Both rewards are for "information leading to the apprehension of" and do not require conviction before being paid.

PERSHING GREETED AS PLAIN JOHN BY BOYHOOD FRIENDS

Miss May Pershing, from Lincoln, Neb.

He distributed bear hugs and affectionately greeted his old friends.

"You're certainly looking well, John," said 83-year-old Ed B. Allen, another of the general's boyhood chums.

"Yes, I feel better than I have for some time, Ed," Pershing replied.

Someone commented on the general's informal bearing.

"Sure," said Allen, "that's the way he is at home; he's one of the boys here."

A lodge meeting and parade was to precede the cornerstone ceremony Saturday afternoon.

Everything we Christians do should be prompted by faith and love of God. Thus also our singing should be an expression of our faith, and our participation in sacred, choral work should be an act of worship.

Christians do not primarily sing in the sanctuary to please the ears of human listeners, but they direct their songs to the ear of the Lord. The psalmist of old has expressed the motive of modern, Christian singers in the words: "Sing unto the Lord a new song; for he hath done member of the Karpis gang, was captured by G-men here today.

He was the only criminal at large in the United States on whose head the Federal Department of Justice had placed a price.

The department said he was worth $2500, dead or alive.

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Bureau of Investigation and chief of the nation's "Government men," personally arrested Campbell in Toledo at 5 o'clock this morning, in a trap as secretly laid and as smoothly closed as that one in which Campbell's ex-boss in crime, Alvin Karpis, was caught last week in New Orleans.

Whisked Away By Plane

Mr. Hoover whisked Campbell to Cleveland by plane, and from there packed him off, in care of Federal agents, to St. Paul, where he will be arraigned and tried for the Bremer kidnaping. Karpis also is in St. Paul, awaiting trial in the Hamm kidnaping case.

(William Hamm and Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul brewers, were kidnaped separately several years ago at St. Paul; taken out of the state by the Karpis gang, released on payment of $200,000, ransom, each.)

Campbell had been living in Toledo for five months, Mr. Hoover said, almost constantly since the $45,000 mail train robbery last November at Garrettsville, near Warren, O., in which he was a suspect, and has been in and out of Toledo for the past 18 months.

Mr. Hoover flew here from Washington last night.

He said his men had been watching Campbell for some days, but refused to discuss the possibility that G-men located Campbell after Karpis gave them a tip-off as to his whereabouts.

(A dispatch from St. Paul today, quoted a Federal agent as saying Karpis is "entitled to" the Campbell reward money.)

The building in which he was living with a 22-year-old bride of a year who didn't know his true identity, was a two-story structure—four apartments above a delicatessen store. Campbell had a front apartment, Mr. Hoover said, and was using the name of Bob Miller, the name under which he was married.

Woman Sees Raid

The best description of Campbell's capture came from Mrs. Gerald F. Naught, who lived in the apartment next to his.

"I saw the arrest," she said. "Until then I didn't know the man who had lived next door was a fugitive from justice."

"This morning, about 5 o'clock, I was awakened by sounds."

"I looked out the window and saw four cars pull to the curb. Men were getting out of them, some carrying sawed-off shotguns, and some carrying suitcases."

"Four men remained on the street looking up at the windows of the apartment across the hall from ours. The rest of them, more than a dozen, I thought, came up the stairs hurriedly. Some went down the hall to the back door of the building, while the rest of them stayed in the hall in front of apartment No. 4."

"They pounded on the door."

"A woman's voice answered."

"It was Gertrude Miller's voice."

"What do you want?" she asked.

"We are Federal officers and"

as "Mr. Miller," he said, "he was handcuffed to two of the officers."

Mr. Hoover said $2900 in cash, a revolver and six cartridge clips were found in Campbell's apartment. He said Campbell surrendered without trouble.

"He's yellow like the rest of them," he said. "As soon as he saw we meant business he wilted."

In a simultaneous raid, Federal agents captured Sam Coker, on parole from the Oklahoma State Prison at McAlester, where he was serving a 30-year term for bank robbery. Coker is held at Cleveland in the Department of Justice office.

for parole violation.

Mr. Hoover disclosed after the two that Dr. Joseph Moran of Chicago, who altered the fingerprints of Karpis and Campbell and performed plastic surgery on their faces, is believed to be "at the bottom of Lake Erie."

"We are not checking him off our list yet," Mr. Hoover remarked, "but we believe gangsters killed him in fear he would squeal."

He said his men will intensify immediately their search for doctors, politicians and others who aided the Karpis-Barker mob. He disclosed that most of the ST. PAUL, May 7—Alvin Karpis, gringing imprisoned gang leader, gave the tip that brought about capture of his chief lieutenant, Harry Campbell, in Toledo, O., a G-man said today.

The Federal man was waiting at St. Paul airport for arrival of the plane bearing Campbell and his captors.

"Is Karpis going to get the $2500 reward for Campbell's capture?"

"Well," the G-man replied, "he's entitled to it."

Campbell was brought here by plane, transferred to an auto and rushed to the Department of Justice offices.

Karpis is being held at Ramsey County jail on $500,000 bond.

Hoover's Personal Work Surprises Capital

By The United Press
WASHINGTON, May 7—Considerable interest was aroused here today by the sudden personal activity of J. Edgar Hoover in rounding up criminals.

Testifying before the Senate Appropriations Committee recently, Mr. Hoover admitted he never had actually arrested anyone.

Since that testimony was given, he has participated in the only two major arrests carried out by the bureau—the arrests of Alvin Karpis and Harry Campbell.

The possibility appeared that Mr. Hoover may be taking a more active part because of criticism leveled at him by Senator Kenneth McKellar, (D. Tenn.). It was Mr. McKellar who asked Mr. Hoover about his actual experience.

Rewards for Karpis and Campbell were offered by the Department of Justice early last month, $5000 for Karpis and $2500 for Campbell.

Assistant Bureau of Investigation Director Thomas D. Quinn said positively, however, the Bureau did not intend to pay rewards for either Karpis or Campbell, because their arrests were the result of tedious tracking down of clues by Federal agents rather than "tips" from private individuals.

Of the one-time "big shots" in gangland, the Government's special agents now have captured all but Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., sought for the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Stoll in Louisville, and William Mahan, wanted for the kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser at Tacoma, Wash.

THURSDAY MAY 7, 1936.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, May 7—Federal G-men today arrested William Mahan, Weyerhauser kidnaper, at San Francisco, Climaxing a whirl-wind round-up that put three of the nation's four leading public enemies into custody in less than a week.

Two of the three criminals were captured today within a space of a few hours.

Harry Campbell was seized personally by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the G-Men, at Toledo, O., this morning.

William Mahan, kidnaper of little George Weyerhauser, was seized at San Francisco, Cal., late this afternoon.

Alvin Karpis, kidnaper of William Hamm of St. Paul, was seized in New Orleans last Friday night.

The arrests left only Thomas G. Robinson, wanted for the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Stoll in Louisville in 1934, on the Justice Department's list of major public enemies still uncaught.

It virtually wiped clean the Justice Department record of solutions of kidnaping cases.

Mr. Hoover said the capture was effected by bureau agents, and that Mahan was caught in a San Francisco house on Minna St. between 6th and 7th Aves., at 12:30 p. m.

He said Mahan was alone when captured and that he had readily

'Call 'Em Rats,' Hoover Urges

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, May 7—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, would like to have the nation's most notorious criminals referred to as "Public Rat No. 1."

"Criminals are very vain," he told newsmen in announcing the capture of Harry Campbell, member of the Karpis-Barker gang. "They like to be called 'Public Enemy No. 1.' I wish newspapers would start calling them 'public rats.'" admitted his identity. He was taken at once to Tacoma, Wash., the home of the Weyerhauser child.

Considerable currency was found on him at the time of the arrest. It was identified as part of the $200,000 ransom paid for young Weyerhauser's return.

Weyerhauser, 9-year old, was kidnaped on May 24, 1935, while returning home from school in Tacoma. Ransom of $200,000 was paid later.
